Sunny skies brighten Fourth of July fun

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Cool and sunny weather conspired with the Village of Antioch to make a picture perfect Independence Day Celebration. From the Run for Freedom to the fireworks, residents and visitors to the two- day event enjoyed the festivities.

After the early morning run, the parade took off. Bands, dancers, marchers and more entertained for over an hour.

Following the parade, the Children's Festival was jam-packed with kids playing games, riding ponies, enjoying the petting zoo and even jumping in the magic castle. Along with the balloons and prizes, food and refreshments were served.

Sunday's events included the sports tournaments. Winners of the Crazy Co-Ed

Fourth fireworks display ends in confusion

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Things started off without a hitch Sunday night when the Antioch Independence Day festivities wrapped up with the annual fireworks display. However, approximately 15 minutes into the show, the fireworks had to be stopped.

It appears a combination of things caused the fireworks to be stopped and the resultant confusion with residents. "We had a couple of people with stuff in their eyes," said a member of the Antioch Rescue Squad. After getting their eyes washed out, all refused further treatment at the hospital.

While that was going on, a fireman injured his knee. "It wasn't directly related to the fireworks," said the squad member. However, the fireman was in the fireworks area when injured.

If that wasn't enough, some residents were reportedly sitting too near the launch area and on the railroad tracks. According to village officials, someone had to run down and stop things which also held up the festivities.

Many people watching the fireworks were unable to hear the messages over the loud speaker and didn't know if the display was over. Some residents attempted to leave the area, while others milled about in confusion.

To add to the melee, the fireworks resumed in brief bursts with long delays in between. After each burst, some people got up to leave, only to discover the event was not over.

Probably the most frightening aspect of the evening was when Antioch Downtown Director Claude LeMere began announcing an oncoming train and warning people off the tracks. Fortunately, no one was injured by the train.

When all was said and done, no one was seriously injured by the evening's events.

Rapid growth brings tough school decisions

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

With the rapid residential growth in Lake Villa and Antioch Township, school district officials are faced with the daunting task of educating more kids with increasingly limited funds.

Tough decisions will have to made as school districts cope with the ever increasing enrollments spurred by new development. Efforts at the overall solution have been either turned down by voters or are as yet to be worked out by school district officials.

Much of the future planning centers on the high school issue. Presently Antioch High School is approaching its capacity while the growth continues and Grayslake High School's addition isn't a long-term solution.

Many options are being considered by separate districts. Also, a task force is being set up to find solutions.

One theory is to combine the Antioch and Grayslake high school districts and create a third high school in Lake Villa Township. The benefit of this approach is it would provide the largest tax base to finance a new high school.

Another option is for Antioch High School to construct a larger campus at Polley Field. However, there are no new cost estimates, and some school board officials don't believe the site is large enough to accommodate the long-term needs for the entire high school district.

Lake Villa Elementary District is exploring the option of bringing its own version of a Lake Villa unit district. The board is considering having a unit district within the boundaries of the school district.

Todd Maplethorpe

Honorary Fire Chief honored by village

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Friends, family, and co-workers gathered Monday night for the dedication of the Maplethorpe Room. While many village employees were honored for their service to Antioch, Honorary Fire Chief Todd Maplethorpe will only have to stop by the newly remodeled community room in the former Moose Building, to measure the esteem village officials have for him.

"This will always be here," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug as she hung a portrait of Maplethorpe in the community room. "This will always hang in this room in honor of you."

Maplethorpe's community service to Antioch is legendary. He joined the Antioch Fire Department in 1946 and began his employment with the village on Dec. 1, 1955. He was the fire chief from 1966 to 1987.

However, even after his official retirement, he stops by the village hall every couple of days to see if he is needed. "He continues to work for us on a daily basis," said Shineflug.

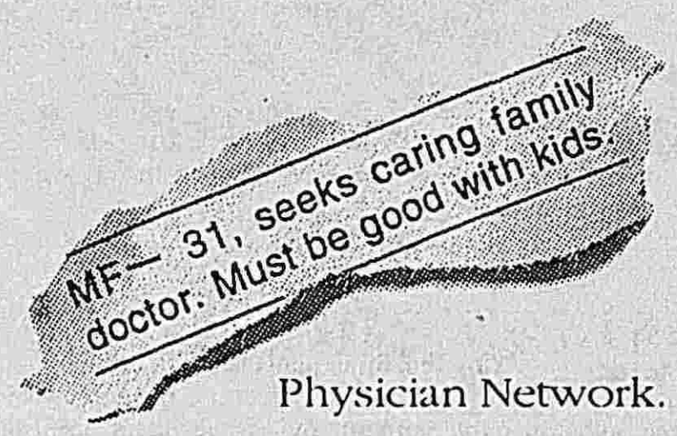

According to the mayor, Maplethorpe does paper work when needed and recently built racks for the plat books. He is currently an honorary chief for the fire department and was a great help with the new three digit addressing system.

"I've always had my heart and soul in the village," said Maplethorpe. "And," he joked, "I probably will until I am planted."

Moser benefit to raise funds, dreams and hope

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Organizers of the Warren Moser Benefit hope to raise funds to not only offset heavy medical expenses, but fulfill a critically ill man's dreams. And, while they are at it, they hope to create a little magic as well.

The Antioch Village Board has approved the use of part of the municipal lot on Toft Street for the Warren Moser Benefit. The event, which will take place July 30, will go to benefit Moser, a former employee of Rays Service, who has cancer.

The 39-year-old locksmith and mechanic is a familiar sight in Antioch. "He is the original gentle giant," said friend and one of the benefit organizers, Karen Lynn. "He is just a kind soul."

Moser has undergone numerous surgeries. "It is spreading," said Lynn. "He just had another surgery to scrape the tumors from his spine." Lynn hopes the July 30 date will be a "window of health" to allow Moser to attend.

The benefit, the third such event thrown by the Limerick Lounge, will include an auction, raffle and door prizes. Raymond Chevrolet has donated a car and the Limerick a trip for two to Las Vegas. Ray's Service has donated a 24-inch color television and the Sandbar Y-Not Inn has donated a VCR.

The money raised by the benefit will go towards Moser's trip to Alaska as well as to defer some of his living and medical expenses. "It has always been his lifelong dream to go to Alaska," said Lynn. "He is a big fisherman. He has always said Alaska is the last frontier."

In addition to generating funds for Moser, Lynn is hoping for a little magic as well. According to Lynn, the beneficiaries of the two earlier events went into remission after the benefits. "I'm starting to feel these things are lucky," Lynn explained.

The Moser benefit will be held from 2 to 6 p.m. at the Limerick Lounge. Food and beverages will be served and the public is invited to attend.

Windmill Creek residents organize

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Residents of Windmill Creek in Antioch met last week and have adopted several resolutions regarding the subdivision. In a nutshell, homeowners in this relatively new subdivision are angry with the developer, Al Little, and feel he has not properly completed public improvement projects.

The Village of Antioch has, for the most part, bonded out the first phase of the development. "This means, the village has basically said, 'yeah the work is done'," explains Antioch Village Planner Robert Silhan. And, as a result, Little is preparing to turn phase one of the subdivision over to the homeowners association.

According to Silhan, this is typically the time residents have a list of things they want done before they accept the subdivision. "That is when these issues become important to the homeowners," said Silhan. "It happens with every new subdivision."

Windmill Creek residents have a fairly long list which includes: pond dredging, landscaping around the pond to alleviate future erosion, sidewalks connected, parkways completed, street lights adjusted and additions to street lights, various paths completed, the park area staked out, and the empty lots mowed and maintained.

Whether or not they will be able to have their wishes filled may be another matter. In particular, connecting the sidewalks may be a problem. At this time, the village does not require sidewalks to be connected when a subdivision is substantially completed.

Instead, sidewalks are completed as each lot is developed. "They go in when individual building permits are issued," said Silhan. Since Little has complied with this, it is unlikely he can be forced to do more than is required.

"I can understand the resident's feelings," said Silhan. He has experienced the problem, first hand, when he moved into a new subdivision and had his sidewalk end at his neighbors home. "Maybe there ought to be an ordinance requiring sidewalk completion when 75 to 80 percent of the subdivision is completed," opined Silhan.

The pond is also going to be another difficult problem to solve. At this time, litigation is underway regarding other ponds in the immediate area. It may be possible the resolution to those problems will eliminate the problem in Windmill Creek.

"We are willing to work with them (the Village and Little) on this," said one Windmill Creek resident. "But, we are not going to accept anything less than what we were promised."

New dispatch system hopes to reduce abuse

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

A problem for Antioch Dispatch, alarm systems that dial the dispatch system, has come to an end with a new phone system and an ordinance banning their use.

Antioch dispatches for all of the incorporated areas for Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst. These dialers were dialing up the police non-emergency number and preventing emergency calls from getting through, according to Lt. Charles Watkins of Antioch Police Department.

"Whenever there was a power outage, these dialers would call up the non-emergency number and tie up the emergency lines. We couldn't get the emergency calls," Watkins said.

What was happening is people were hooking up burglar alarms to the police non-emergency numbers. There were so many residences and businesses doing this that it's interfering with the phone system.

Watkins said it wasn't much of a problem a few years ago, but with the growing number of businesses and residences in the three-village area, it was overworking the phone lines.

The situation was briefly discussed at a Lake Villa Board meeting. Mayor Frank Loffredo said businesses were concerned they didn't have enough of a notice to plan for the change. Business owners expressed concern that the dialer couldn't leave a message in time.

The new phone system will prevent the direct dialing by the alarms. However, for a small monthly fee, those with direct dialers can subscribe to an alarm service, according to Watkins.

Watkins said people used the direct dial to police as a way to save paying the fee for an alarm service.

Metra commuter station work to be out for bid

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

With the final plans almost completed, the Village of Antioch approved the bid process for the station work. It is hoped, the station work can get underway soon to allow interior work to be completed during the winter months.

"We hope to enclose the building by winter," said Village Administrator Tim Wells.

For the most part, the plans are completed. Although, Wells cautioned, "There may be some federal regulations."

The board also approved the signing of the Commuter Station Development Agreement. The agreement, to be signed by the other 13 affected villages, is required in order to allow for commuter service.

"It means the village can have commuter service with Metra," explained Wells.

The approval, however, was subject to review by Village Attorney Ken Clark.

Metra service from Antioch to Chicago is expected to be up and running in the early part of 1996. Using the Wisconsin Central tracks, the train will head first to O'Hare Airport, before pulling into Union Station.

Communities along the tracks have been scrambling to construct stations and parking areas for their communities. In Antioch, the station will include a 70-space parking lot, which could be expanded at a later date if necessary.

Lipps undecided on re-election

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Rosemary Lipps said she hasn't determined if she will run to retain her seat on the Antioch Community High School Board this fall. She said she has to consider the issue with her family before making the decision.

"I have not made a decision if I will run again," Lipps said. "I'm real pleased with the progress that we have made in the last four years."

Lipps, of Lake Villa, said she would like to see continued representation from someone in the Lake Villa and Lindenhurst area on the high school board. She has ruled out running for a grade school board.

"I think there should be representation from the Lake Villa and Lindenhurst area. I think we should work together as a community," Lipps said.

She praised the work of the school board. She points to a lower deficit, and high student test scores as indications of progress. She boasted of curriculum improvements over the last few years.

Among the improvements include a full complement of advanced placement courses. There were none available before 1990.

Lipps also is excited about the future. In particular, she is looking forward to the new additions of Superintendent Dr. Dennis Hockney and Principal Dr. Susan Mullendore.

"I think we are headed in the right direction. The future looks bright," Lipps said.

The other two board members up for election, Board President Laurel Dahl and Joanne Osmond have made their intentions known. Dahl said she will not run again for the school board. Osmond is uncertain whether she will be a candidate for the high school board or Lake Villa Elementary Board.

Lipps added the school board will have to address increasing enrollment and building repairs at the school.

The filing deadline is in September. Prospective candidates can pick up petitions at the high school.

Seniors get first multi-family recycling program

Residents of the Lake County Housing Authority's Millview and Orchard Manor kicked off a recycling program. Mayor Marilyn Shineflug was on hand to congratulate the seniors on starting the first senior program in Antioch.

The senior citizens in the building formed a resident recycling committee to help educate fellow residents and to monitor the project. In Millview, the members are Richard Irmen, Violet Tigue, Adam Wojcik, June Watkins, Ivy Elrod and Irenne Giebelhaus. In Orchard Manor, the members are David Keller, Catherine Both and Irene Hogan.

In a cooperative effort between the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County, the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service and the Lake County Housing Authority, the program will include glass (all colors), tin, steel, aluminum, plastic no. 1, no. 2 and no. 6, newspaper, phone books and junk mail.

"Multi-family buildings are difficult in terms of recycling programs," said Leisa Niemotka, education coordinator for the Solid Waste Agency. "Buildings vary in size, shape and waste collection." Both buildings will have two carts (provided by Waste Management) in centrally located positions for residents to dispose of their recyclables. Jewel Foods donated durable nylon bags for the residents to use when carrying their materials to the carts.

"We've had enormous success with senior recycling in one of our other buildings in the county," said Stacey Wormington of the Lake County Housing Authority. "It is our hope that this project will be successful so we may continue to expand it."

Bathroom purse robber caught

SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporters

A robbery which began in Antioch ended up with a car chase, traffic accident, and a foot chase. But, in the end, the police apprehended Stephen H. Wilkinson, 30, of Wheeling.

According to police, Wilkinson parked his car at Taco Bell in Antioch, and walked over to Burger King. Police said, once there, he entered the ladies washroom and reached under a stall taking a 54-year-old woman's purse.

"She caught up with him and he pushed her down," said Antioch Police Lieutenant Charles Watkins. The woman was uninjured, but according to police she was extremely upset over the incident.

As Wilkinson took off to his car a witness followed him and was able to get as license plate number. After a bulletin was put out over the airwaves, Lake Zurich Police reported spotting the vehicle.

A Lake Zurich police officer apprehended Wilkinson after he crashed his vehicle on a construction site at a shopping center off Route 12.

The officer spotted the suspect driving southbound on Route 12 north of Miller Road at 2:19 p.m. While appearing to stop, the suspect fled south on Route 12 at speeds in excess of 90 miles per hour.

After he crashed his car into a dirt mound at Deerpath Court, he fled on foot but was tackled by a nearby construction worker.

Wilkinson was taken into custody and turned over to Lake County Sheriff's Police deputies. He was charged with strong-arm robbery and battery. A $30,000 bond has been set and police are investigating similar style robberies in the area. Wilkinson may face other charges as a result.

Police seize drugs found in storage

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

Following a strange break in at a rural Lake Villa public storage facility, Lake County Sheriff's Detectives have uncovered a large cache of what appears to be cannabis. Described as a crushed, brown, plant-like substance, the material was enclosed in three, one-pound bags.

Detectives were tipped off after a renter at Sterling Storage, located just north of Grayslake on Rte. 45, reported to the key holder someone had broken into her facility. Lake County Sheriffs officers responded to discover more than a dozen of the small cubicles had been compromised.

Sean Wilson, an independent consultant for Sterling Auto Finish, said access was gained by breaking into one of the storage compartment. To remain undetected, the offenders then tunneled horizontally into neighboring storage compartment using some kind of metal cutting device.

Authorities became suspicious of the break-in after they determined nothing had been disturbed in the violated storage compartments. It appeared the offenders were looking for something specific as well as something valuable.

Wilson said Sterling had received a number of calls in prior weeks asking where a certain person had rented a compartment. They said they had the key but did not know where the compartment was and their relative who rented it could not remember. After, the break-in occurred, authorities connected the two incidents.

Drug sniffing dogs were brought to the storage facility and narrowed in on one storage unit two rows away. The next morning, dogs were again brought out and confirmed something was in the same storage unit. After obtaining a search warrant, detectives found the three Ziploc bags in the middle drawer of a dresser. According to authorities, the street value of one pound of cannabis is $1,200. Under Illinois law, possession of an ounce or more of cannabis is a felony.

Details of the investigation are limited because an arrest has not been made. Detectives did confirm an arrest warrant is pending.

An autopsy to determine cause of death was expected to be completed July 5.

No further details were available at press time.

What we did on our summer vacation — the real story

July is traditionally family vacation month. This is the time of year families feel compelled to pack up their belongings, load the mini-van and head out to a resort, campground or relative's home.

We never traveled as kids. My parents tried it once when we kids ranged between the ages of 5 to 11, and after that excursion the station wagon never left the driveway again until I was 16! Then my friends would retort sarcastically, "You mean you are actually going on a trip with your parents? Ugh!" While people of my parents' generation replied, "Oh, how nice that you will be traveling with your folks."

I must say those road trips contained some of the best times the three of us ever spent together. My mom had a passion for eating and bargain shopping, so we stopped at every restaurant and outlet mall between home and our destination. It's a wonder we ever got to where we were headed.

My dad always did the navigating and each morning in the hotel he would pour over maps and mileage charts planning our daily route while mom and I packed up and got ready for the day. If we ever got lost, dad blamed mom and I for rushing him that morning before his task was completed. We would just laugh to ourselves and roll our eyes behind his back. (Sorry, daddy).

Mom hated to drive, but on our road trips she always felt obligated to do 100 miles every day. Dad and I rode white knuckled and silent, for those were some of the longest miles we ever rode. Mom barely watched the road as she was far too busy watching the odometer, waiting for those miles to tick away. Believe me, once they were up she stopped and proclaimed her duty was fulfilled.

The last time we let her drive, her miles hit the big one zero zero descending a steep incline in the Smoky Mountains. A wall of rocks on one side, a sheer drop on the other, the odometer turned 100, mom hit the brakes, and without even pulling off the road, threw the car into "Park." The semi driver directly behind us did not appreciate this gesture and gave us a gesture of his own. We never made mom feel obligated to drive again!

I don't know why parents feel the urge to take trips with their little ones. Many people have gotten rich writing "How To" books chock full of how to handle a variety of travel woes. Believe me, I've read all the books and there isn't a single reasonable solution to the "Are we there yet" and "I have to go potty" repertoire. Those books offer snack suggestions which will not make the children thirsty, such as carrots and raisins. Oh yeah, like that is going to satisfy the screams "We want chips and dip and soda."

My kids learned early on that raisins make great torpedoes and the back of my head makes an even greater target. Carrots and raisins indeed; obviously those authors never traveled with real kids.

The books advise activities such as the Alphabet Game to occupy those little minds. Well I'm a stickler for seat belts, and from their car seats my kids can barely see out their window, so how in the world are they going to find the appropriate objects to play letter games. What am I saying—one of my kids doesn't even know her letters! So we resort to the music and singing theory. Unfortunately, when you are dealing with tastes in music that range from rock to repetition, there's really not a comparable solution. Like a friend of ours said, "Our family vacations are more like those portrayed in the Griswald's journey to Wally World."

So our best solution is to leave at 4 a.m. with the kids sleeping in the car seats, drive till they wake up, eat whatever meal is appropriate, drive another half hour and stop for the night at a hotel with a pool even if it's only 10 o'clock in the morning. This is why it takes us three days to get to St. Louis!

But every year, millions of families pile into their mini-vans and torment their bodies and souls for that annual "Summer Vacation." Remember it doesn't matter what mode of transportation you select or what destination you choose—by the time you get back home you will be exhausted, crabby, sun burned and broke.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

So my suggestion to all you vacation-bound families: Save all that hard earned money, put it in the bank in an interest-bearing account, and after your kids grow up and flee your nest, spend every dime of that saved money on a real vacation. After all, we are expected to feed, clothe and school the little urchins; there is no Commandment that says "Thou shalt travel" with them. If we make their lives too enjoyable they won't ever leave home! So bon voyage and happy travels.

Market Day news

In case your freezer is running low of that famous Market Day meat, chicken, fun foods or pizza, you are in luck. St. Peter's Church here in Antioch will be having Market Day this month and in August. The orders for July are due on Monday, July 10 so if you need an order form or you want to call in your order, here are two phone numbers you need: Jeff Barton, 395-4450; or Mary Leonard, 395-0246. Leave a message if the answering machines kick on. The pick up date is July 20 at St. Peter's School from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m.

So if your normal Market Day establishment has taken the summer off, here is the perfect opportunity to replenish your depleted supply of their fine foods. And as Bartles and Jaymes say, "Thanks for your support."

A serious moment

The other day I received a call from an old friend who was looking for a piece of music she wanted to play at her father-in-law's funeral. I haven't talked to her since my mom died and it was amazing how in those two years nothing much was different except our kids had gotten older and we had grown up.

Our conversation was so comfortable it seemed like just yesterday we had lunch together. My friend commented that was all part of being good friends—you could pick up after years of not seeing each other and feel like only days had passed instead of years. I said either that or we just led very boring lives. We both opted for the good friend scenario.

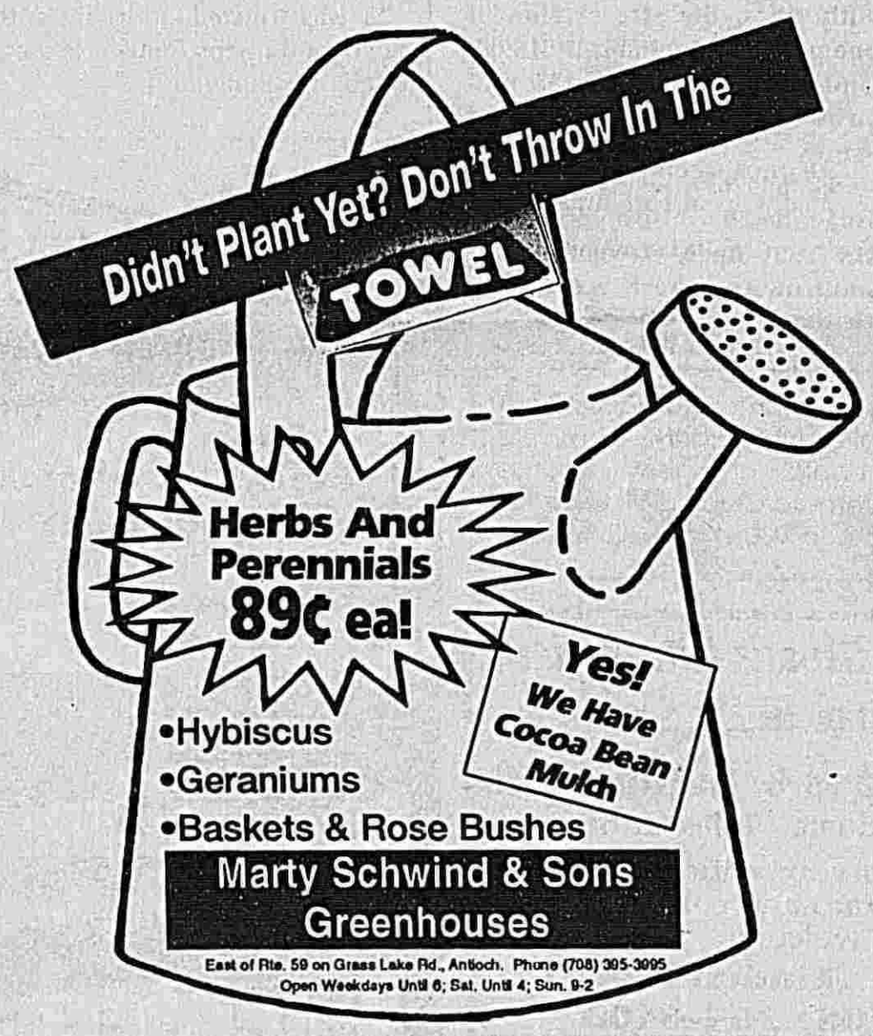

I spent some time with her family that evening and realized our lives hadn't changed any more than the red carpeting still covering their family room floor; when the house was purchased 10 years ago, that was going to be the first thing that got ripped out.

Considering the circumstances, I suppose it is inappropriate to say we had an enjoyable evening, but we did—good friends are allowed to. And now that the funeral is over and the out-of-town guests have gone home, the grieving family members are left to regain some semblance of life.

To the entire Halvey family I offer my sincerest condolences. I can assure you that life will be different now but it will get easier as you all reestablish a daily routine. Your job now is to keep Grandpa Jack's memory alive for his grandchildren; all the best to you.

And hats off to all the good friends in this world. Where would we be without them?

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"...don't forget to call 395-6364.

The district also is expected to ask for an increase in the education fund to pay for the cost of new students and provide the necessary teachers.

The unit district proposal of a unified K-12 district was rejected by voters in April. The unit plan would have taken most of Lake Villa Township residents in one school district and taken the children out of both the Antioch and Grayslake high school districts.

Unpopular was the impact it would have had on existing districts. Millburn and Antioch elementary districts feared the unit plan would have put both districts in financial jeopardy.

Antioch Elementary would like to use the present high school site for a middle school. The current middle school is reaching its limit and the district may consider a building referendum this fall.

Grayslake High School District is finishing its building addition which is expected to be maxed out in just a two to three-year period. Grayslake High school board has offered the combination with Antioch as a way to handle growth. When Grayslake asks for another school referendum it will be the last expansion of the current facility.

So far, the scope of a committee to discuss the issue hasn't been worked out. Some school boards desire a few school board representatives while some school board members advocate community leaders get involved in the process as well.

The school districts cross village and township boundaries, creating situations where kids living in a community can be divided into differing school districts. For example, Lindenhurst children are sent to six different school systems.

Millburn School Board is considering a building bond issue as well. The district may secure a loan for an 8-10 room addition.

The schools will ultimately have to decide if they will combine to solve the enrollment crunch, or deal with the problem as separate districts.

Route 53 extension may be open by 1999

JENNIFER WHISENAND
Staff Reporter

Route 53 may become a reality for Lake County residents as soon as 1999, according to latest projections from the Illinois State Toll Highway Authorities.

On Thursday, state representatives were able to hear the newest information available on the Route 53 extension through Lake County over coffee at a legislative breakfast hosted by the Village of Libertyville.

Many members of the legislature asked questions and expressed their opinions on a variety of subjects from wells to the active members of the CPC.

"There is no doubt in my mind that there is a need for the extension of Route 53," said State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-31).

Other groups attending the meeting included the Lake County Corridor Planning Council, Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) and the Illinois State Toll Highway Authorities (ISTHA).

"This tollway will be accountable to the people of today and those in the future," said Executive Director of ISTHA, Ralph Wehner.

Wehner said ISTHA wants to construct a roadway that will not create a large negative impact on the communities it will be running through.

'There is no doubt in my mind that there is a need for the extension of Route 53.'

— State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-31)

In completing this the municipalities have joined together and created an intergovernmental party called the Corridor Planning Council, (CPC).

The CPC is a group of different municipalities which are out to create organization within the communities and work with IDOT and ISTHA in planning a road that will benefit the communities.

One question that was brought up by Sen. William E. Peterson (R-26th) was the impact on the well water that will be located near the proposed route.

"Many of the residents in my district are concerned about their well water becoming contaminated and flooding in the area," Peterson said. "If these wells become polluted their property will become worthless," he added.

CPC member Richard Raftis, representing Lake County said, "Since I have been involved with the roads in Lake County I have not found one well that has been contaminated."

District 1 Engineer of IDOT, Duane Carlson stated IDOT is committed to working through the corridor study with the CPC and addressing the public's needs.

The next target set for IDOT is a public meeting, which will be held in the fall of 1995. The purpose of the meeting

Welton grocery era ends with takeover

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

"I'm broken hearted. It is like there has been a death in the family," Richard Welton said.

The Welton family spent the July Fourth holiday relaxing, but life in the past few weeks has been anything but a picnic. For the first time in 43 years, the Weltons are not operating a grocery store.

Welton's Pick 'N Save locations in Round Lake and Gurnee are now being operated by Roundy's, the wholesaler. The takeover began July 4.

"It was a life's work. I feel sad for the customers and team members," Welton said.

Welton's father, Arthur Sr. started the family business at a small store just past a hill on Grand Ave. in Gurnee. Then, in 1980 the Weltons began operation of their then called County Market store off Route 132.

"I remember asking my father if I could work there when I was in the fourth grade. I quickly grew tired of it, but my father taught me a lesson - you finish what you start," Harry Welton, company president, said.

"It is a changing lifestyle. People are eating out so much and are not buying groceries," Richard Welton said.

Welton said he is undecided about whether he will remain as mayor of Gurnee. He has held that position for 20 years. "If people feel I am an embarrassment, I will get out," he said.

The Weltons operated the Gurnee Piggly Wiggly Store and Welton's Management Services, which oversaw the then growing business.

"We were regarded as one of the top independent retailers in the country, but we did not have the where-with-all to compete," Richard Welton said.

Both Welton brothers cited competition as the main factor. A new Jewel store in Gurnee, one new one in Waukegan, Sam's Club and Super K-Marts in Vernon Hills and Round Lake area all led to their demise.

"We have been trying to hang on for the last three years. Closing the Mundelein store in 1993 gave us a temporary boost, but another Super K-Mart opened in Round Lake and Jewel in Waukegan. We did not have a chance to re-establish ourselves with more competition," Harry Welton, president, said.

"I have fond memories of the growing up years. Our most profitability came in the early '80s. The market is intense," Harry Welton said. "The grocery

Independent grocer hits tactics of big chain stores

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Is there a place in today's fast-food era for an independent grocer?

Jerry Ming, who operates Jerry's Parkway Foods in Grayslake and Fox Lake, does not believe the newly empowered large chain grocery stores are giving consumers the same service as independents. This comes in the wake of a 43-year family run grocery firm, the Weltons, having to turn over assets to Roundy's, their wholesaler.

"The big guys will buy a site for any amount of money that does not make business sense. They are willing to accept losses for three or five years amongst their other stores. It's a shame. The Weltons have worked hard for 40 years," Ming said.

Ming said more than just a grocery store was at stake.

"How many generations of kids paid for school by working for the Welton's? When civic organizations need support, they come to Jerry's and Welton's first. We are always supporting civic organizations - but some of the same people do not shop here and keep the independents alive," Ming said.

"What I see happening is an evolution of corporate chain stores taking over a marketplace - no matter what the cost," Ming said.

In addition to competition, the cost of doing business is very high in Illinois. "Our utility bill is $10,000 to $20,000 a month. In Wisconsin for the same size store, it would be $6,000 a month. That puts you behind the 8-ball before you start."

He said the large companies which set up on the outskirts of Lake County towns near intersections are killing downtowns. "They cannot afford to pay prices for land downtown," he said.

Ming's stores are also part of the Milwaukee-based Roundy's, which seized Welton's assets and began operating the stores last week.

"It was a business decision. Roundy's did not want to have to do it, but had to be responsible to others in the co-op. It was inevitable," he said.

Ming, a former Roundy's director, described the Milwaukee-based Roundy's as a $2.5 billion, seven state firm.

Internet made easy

GRAYSLAKE—Businesses and individuals with questions about the Internet will get the chance for some answers July 12 from 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Lake County Internet provider Lakeland netDIRECT will be hosting a seminar at the Country Squire Restaurant in Grayslake titled "Getting the Most Out of the Internet." Two experts will deliver the technical discussion in layman's terms. Pre-registration by July 7 for the event is $35. Late registration up to the morning of the seminar is $45. A buffet luncheon will be provided. To register or for more information call 223-8199.

Trustee resigns from board

ROUND LAKE PARK—Trustee June Bessert has resigned from the village board. She cited personal reasons as the reason she was leaving. Besssert had served on the board for two years and said she enjoyed working for and serving residents. She added she enjoyed working with Mayor Charlene Beyer and regrets leaving before her term expires.

Rte. 53 meeting set in Gurnee

GURNEE—Gurnee residents will be able to give their views on the proposed extension of Route 53 as Illinois Department of Transportation hosts a Gurnee meeting next week. The meeting will be at 7 p.m., July 13, at Gurnee Village Hall. "The meeting will be held to talk about conceptual plans and the best ideas — nothing is final yet," Gurnee Trustee Mark Ratfelders said. Ratfelders is Gurnee's delegate to the Corridor Planning Council (CPC).

New LHS being discussed

VERNON HILLS—A developer has donated 15 acres for a new Libertyville High School site in Vernon Hills. School officials have expressed an interest in the site but have not made a firm commitment. As tentatively planned, a school facility would be located on the 15-acre parcel, but the athletic fields would be located on the former Nike missile site, which is within the district lines of Stevenson High School. Village officials said they would own the athletic fields and allow Libertyville High School use the fields through an intergovernmental agreement. Nearby residents have voiced some opposition toward a new high school near an upscale housing community.

VFW names All State team

GRAYSLAKE—Grayslake VFW Post 2245 Commander Bob Wegge has been honored by the state headquarters by being named to the Elite All State Team. Wegge achieved the honor by retaining 100 percent membership as well as adding 12 more members to the 66-member post. Quartermaster Jim Adkins was also named to the team on the strength of membership increases in the Grayslake, Lake Villa and Lake Zurich posts.

Fireworks cause confusion

ANTIOCH—The Independence Day fireworks display in Antioch ended in confusion for residents when the show had to be interrupted. People straying into the discharge area, minor eye complaints, and an injured fireman conspired to cause officials to stop the display for a brief time. Some residents believed the fireworks to be over and left only to discover the display resumed after a short period of time. None of the mishaps resulted in serious injury.

Lions named 'Club of Year'

LAKE ZURICH—The Lake Zurich Lions Club was named "Club of the Year" for 1994-1995 among 50 other clubs in the northwest and far north suburbs. This is among the highest designation it can receive. Lions Club President Jeffrey Sedlack said the honor caught them by surprise. Established in 1939, the Lake Zurich Lions have around 80 members, all who work for the betterment of the community.

Village to spread herbicide

WAUCONDA—The village will spread herbicide pellets in three five-acre locations on Bangs Lake to see if it helps with their battle against a growing weed population. Officials have agreed to let a herbicide company spread Sonar in the lake the morning of July 7. If it is successful, they will come back next spring to do a more intensive specific program. Officials said Sonar is not harmful to humans or fish, but kills weeds and other plant life.

Robber apprehended

ANTIOCH—A robbery which began in Antioch, wound up with a car chase, traffic accident, and a foot chase. But, in the end, the Lake Zurich Police apprehended Stephen H. Wilkinson, 30 of Wheeling. According to police, Wilkinson entered the ladies washroom of an Antioch Burger King and reached under a stall taking a 54 year-old woman's purse. A witness took down Wilkinson's license plate number, which led to the car chase in Lake Zurich. No one was seriously injured and Wilkinson was charged with battery and strong arm robbery.

Principal hits roof

ROUND LAKE PARK—Murphy School Principal Kevin Patterson ate 10 small pieces of crayfish on the school roof as part of a deal he made with students. Students were to read at least 200 pages in one week. The students fulfilled their end of the bargain and donated $500 to the school library as well. Patterson said the creatures didn't taste too bad but were a "little rich." He said he might try another motivational project next year but not the same thing.

Wauconda Rodeo rolls in

WAUCONDA—The Great Midwest Rodeo Tour rolls into town this weekend for the 32nd annual Wauconda Rodeo July 7, 8 and 9. Wauconda Chamber of Commerce officials are expecting this to be the biggest and best rodeo yet, with many top name cowboys and rodeo champions participating. The rodeo is held at Golden Oaks Equestrian Center, at Route 12 and Case Road, starting at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday. US 99 is holding a pre-rodeo kick-off party at the fairgrounds at 6 p.m. July 7. Tickets are available at the rodeo.

Police smoke out cannabis

LAKE VILLA—Lake County detectives have an arrest warrant pending after discovering three pounds of cannabis in a public storage facility in rural Lake Villa. A search, using the assistance of drug-sniffing dogs, was conducted after owners of the facility discovered someone had burrowed into more than a dozen of the storage compartments. Police became suspicious because nothing was disturbed in the violated compartments, leading to the belief that the offenders were looking for something specific as well as something valuable. Cannabis currently has a street price of $1,200 per pound.

Cyclist tries to flee police

FOX LAKE—A motorcyclist who led police on a several mile chase said he didn't stop when pursued because he had been drinking. Arrested on June 28 was Michael F. Pasko, 28, after he failed to pull over for Fox Lake police who warned him with lights and sirens for several miles. He had been traveling 61 mph in a 35 mph zone. They finally caught up with him at his home in Ingleside. The alleged offender occasionally looked over his left shoulder to see if police were still trailing him down Rollins Rd., according to reports. Then when he saw police, Pasko would accelerate, they said. They followed him down Washington St. in Ingelside and to his home at 510 Lincoln. He was charged with attempting to flee and elude police.

Forest board adopts land acquisition goal

In an effort to help maintain a proper balance between open space and development as Lake County continues to grow, the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners adopted a goal for land preservation and acquisition acreage at their June 23 meeting.

In the 1993 bond referendum, Lake County residents showed strong support for expansion and improvement of their Forest Preserves. The adopted land goal of 40 acres for every 1,000 residents will allow the Forest Preserve District to successfully meet this mandate. Forest Preserves offer residents and visitors a value of a lifetime by preserving land for wildlife habitat, trail and greenway corridors, wetlands, prairies and forests and for recreation and education opportunities.

"The goal recognizes the value of local, state and private park lands, and the special role the Forest Preserves play in complementing the work of other agencies," stated Jim LaBelle, Lake County Forest Preserve president. "It also ensures that Lake County maintains its unique position as home to the most endangered and threatened species of any county in Illinois and to a diverse blend of communities and amenities that provide a high quality of life for residents."

The land goal will increase the percent of Lake County's 292,000 acres protected as Forest Preserves from the current 6.6 percent to 8.8 percent by 2010. The District's total acreage during the same period would increase from 19,165 to 25,640 acres. In comparison to neighboring systems, Forest Preserve land accounts for 11.1 percent of total county acres in Cook and 10.4 percent in DuPage.

Firefighters take center stage at Lake County Museum

Wauconda firefighters demonstrate techniques for rescuing trapped passengers at the annual firefighter awareness day.

Firefighter buffs will get their fill this weekend at the Lake County Museum where old engines, ambulances and rescue demonstrations will take place.

The museum and the Wauconda Fire Department are co-sponsoring the third annual Firefighter Awareness Day July 9 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Lakewood Forest Preserve, located on Route 176, west of Fairfield Road near Wauconda.

A dozen fire departments from Lake and McHenry Counties are expected to attend the festivities and show everyone what they are all about, said William Glade, assistant chief of the Wauconda Fire Department.

"We want people to come out and see and meet and get to know what the fire service is all about," Glade said.

The day was formed to give people a chance to see both antique and modern vehicles and equipment and make them aware that fire departments do a lot more than just go out on rescue calls, Glade said.

Other areas of service include dive and technical rescues as well as providing safety educational services.

"A lot of the public is interested in fire departments," said Stacey Pyne, curator of education at the museum. "I think firefighters tend to be heroes and the general society looks up to them."

Different demonstrations will be held every half hour, including a dive rescue and car extraction.

The Fox Lake Fire Department will have its Safety House, as well as a 1954 Pirsch engine on display. Other old Pirsch engines will be provided by Wauconda (1931) and Round Lake (1929) Fire Departments. A number of engines and ambulances owned by private citizens will also be on display.

The Northern Illinois Medical Center will bring its Flight for Life helicopter down, and the museum will have its "Medical Milestones" exhibits on display.

The firefighter displays are free of charge, with entrance into the museum costing $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Lake County announces 5-year highway improvement program

Lake County Board Chairman Robert W. Depke has announced a 1995 through 1999 Highway Improvement Program that continues to emphasize maintenance of existing county highways and bridges.

"This five-year program focuses on maintenance under the revenue-raising limits of the property tax cap while undertaking the most critically needed expansion projects and continuing the planning for a future supplemental funding source," Depke said.

The five-year program was unveiled at the county's Public Service Committee meeting June 28. Committee Chairman Edward A. Rojtik explained that the county has access to three funds dedicated to highway improvements: The county bridge tax fund, the matching tax fund and the motor fuel tax fund. The first two funds are county taxes on real estate that now fall under the tax cap legislation providing for minimal revenue increases.

Lake County Div. of Transportation Dir. Martin G. Buehler said that the state's motor fuel tax allotments to the county have been growing very slowly, and that existing revenues have only been adequate for maintaining the existing system. "We are on a 20-year cycle for road resurfacings, about where we should be but the needed road widenings will take us another 75 years at current funding levels." Buehler added that the five-year program does not indicate the priority of any individual project. Priorities are developed during the yearly county budget cycle and design process. The county board must individually appropriate monies for each project from the appropriate fund.

Program highlights include:

•65.5 miles of highway roads to be resurfaced
•7.5 miles of highway roads to be reconstructed
•three bridges to be improved
•23 major intersections to have a three-lane improvement with signals
•four major intersections to have a five-lane improvement with signals
•five miles of road will be widened

Chairman Depke reiterated the county's need for a future user fee revenue source, the four-cent local gas tax. "This revenue that other Chicago area counties are collecting now while we cannot would be above current revenues and would enable gains to be made on the growing traffic congestion situation in Lake County," he said. "Without the four-cent local gas tax, we are experiencing a shortfall in excess of $14 million per year."

A local motor fuel tax would enable the county to double the annual highway improvement program funding but with emphasis shifted to capacity projects. It would allow for expanding the highway system with another six intersections to have a three-lane improvement with signals, and another five intersections would have a five-lane improvement with signals. Most importantly an additional 11 more miles of roads could be widened, and 3.5 miles of new roads could be built.

The county has issued a "transportation wish list" in May of 1995 that included a series of transportation improvements recommended as the first priority over the next 10 years to fund from the possible county option gas tax. In addition, the local gas tax would automatically trigger the collection of highway impact fees on new development by the county now stymied due to a lack of local matching funds.

The county's budget for fiscal year 1995-96 is in the planning stages. It historically has been adopted by the county board at the November meeting. The county's fiscal year begins Dec. 1

Dog, master find decomposed body

TINA L. SWIECH

Island Lake and the Illinois State police departments are trying to determine who killed a 34-year-old Chicago man, and why.

The subject, Carlos Garcia-Gonzalez was found by a man walking his dog in a wooded area near Rte. 176 and Darrell Road July 1 around 2 p.m.

Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson said the badly decomposed body appears to have been deceased for two, maybe three weeks. "Because it's been warm (the weather), it's very difficult to say for sure," said the coroner.

Richardson explained the subject was shot in the head, and possibly the chest.

Police haven't speculated if they know if Gonzalez was murdered in the location he was found, or if his body was dumped there later.

Among the things found in his possession was a temporary U.S. residency card, a small amount of cash and an address book.

industry is going through a large transition. The independents are being driven out of business by the large stores - but the large supermarkets have yet to prove themselves. They are doing a good job of running us out of business but are not necessarily the direction of the food industry."

The stores employed some 250 people, many part-timers. Harry Welton thanked their dedication.

"Many people worked for many years and all did a remarkable job. We have quality team members who have stayed with us through pay cuts, hard times and intense competition," he said.

"This was something we have been trying to stave off for a long time," he remarked.

The new Jewel store has only been open for six weeks. Welton did nothing as mayor to stop or discourage the competition from coming to his home base.

"One thing people will always say about me is that I have been fair," he said.

Long-time Gurnee residents remember the Weltons not only as a grocery store, but for the number of jobs offered. They were one of the main non-factory employers in the pre-Six Flags Great America, Gurnee Mills era.

"All my kids worked for the Weltons," James Yost, a former trustee, said.

"I love kids. Kids are only as good as the adults make them. Since working here, kids have gone on to be doctors, chiropractors and attorneys," Richard Welton said.

Roundy's has extended credit to Welton Food Mart, Inc., secured by the assets of Welton Food Mart, Inc., including the inventory and certain equipment, all of which is Roundy's collateral. Welton Foods and Roundy's are cooperating in a sale of the inventory at the existing stores.

ISTHA officials stated that if the plaza is to go near Winchester Road the plaza would be placed under the road and Winchester Road will remain at the same level.

The dual plaza is still being studied and the second plaza could be placed in Grayslake or Hawthorn Woods.

The Village of Mundelein is still very concerned with the construction standards through the village. Mundelein Village Administrator Kenneth Marabella stated that the village is working with the CPC, IDOT and ISTHA to be able to minimize most of the negative impact to the largest degree.

State Rep. Robert W. Churchill (R-62nd) said that he views the municipalities that have dropped out of the CPC in a different light.

"IDOT and the Tollway said they would bend over backwards to help these communities, and some of them are dropping out of the CPC," Churchill said. "These communities are quitters in my mind," he added.

Municipalities which have dropped out of the CPC include Long Grove and Hawthorn Woods.

Another question asked at the informational meeting was when the tollway was to be completed. ISTHA stated that being optimistic they would look at opening in 1999.

The next step is to complete the Environmental Impact Study (EIS) and hold the Fall of 1995 Public Hearing, where IDOT and the ISTHA will hear public comments, discuss environmental analysis and alternatives including no-build.

Bowen Park Theatre names new artistic director

Lynn Schornick, superintendent of cultural arts for the Waukegan Park Dist., has announced the appointment of Maura Elizabeth Manning as the new artistic director for the Bowen Park Theatre Company. Manning was one of four candidates vying for the position with the company. "We had four excellent candidates from which to choose," said Schornick. "Each brought something very special and different to the Bowen Park Theatre Company. It is never an easy choice when you are faced with fine quality choices. Ms. Manning brought not only exceptional talent through her stage directing, but also an almost immediate involvement in the community," he added.

Manning is a resident of Glen Ellyn and has lived in North Carolina, California and in Japan. She did a considerable amount of theatre in each of those areas. She will become the third artistic director for Bowen Park Theatre. The company was founded in 1986 by Lynn Schornick and Kenneth Smouse of Antioch. Mark Heller succeeded Smouse upon his retirement from the company. Heller resigned as artistic director near the end of the 1994-95 season and a search process for the new director began.

"A committee screened over a dozen applicants," said Schornick. "From that group we chose our candidates. They made suggestions of three plays for the season. We then balanced our scheduling with their availability and choices. Building a season with one director is interesting enough, but building a season with more than one is a very interesting balancing act," Schornick added. "We welcome Maura Manning as the new artistic director of the Bowen Park Theatre Company for the 1995-96 season and our 10th anniversary year."

Maura E. Manning

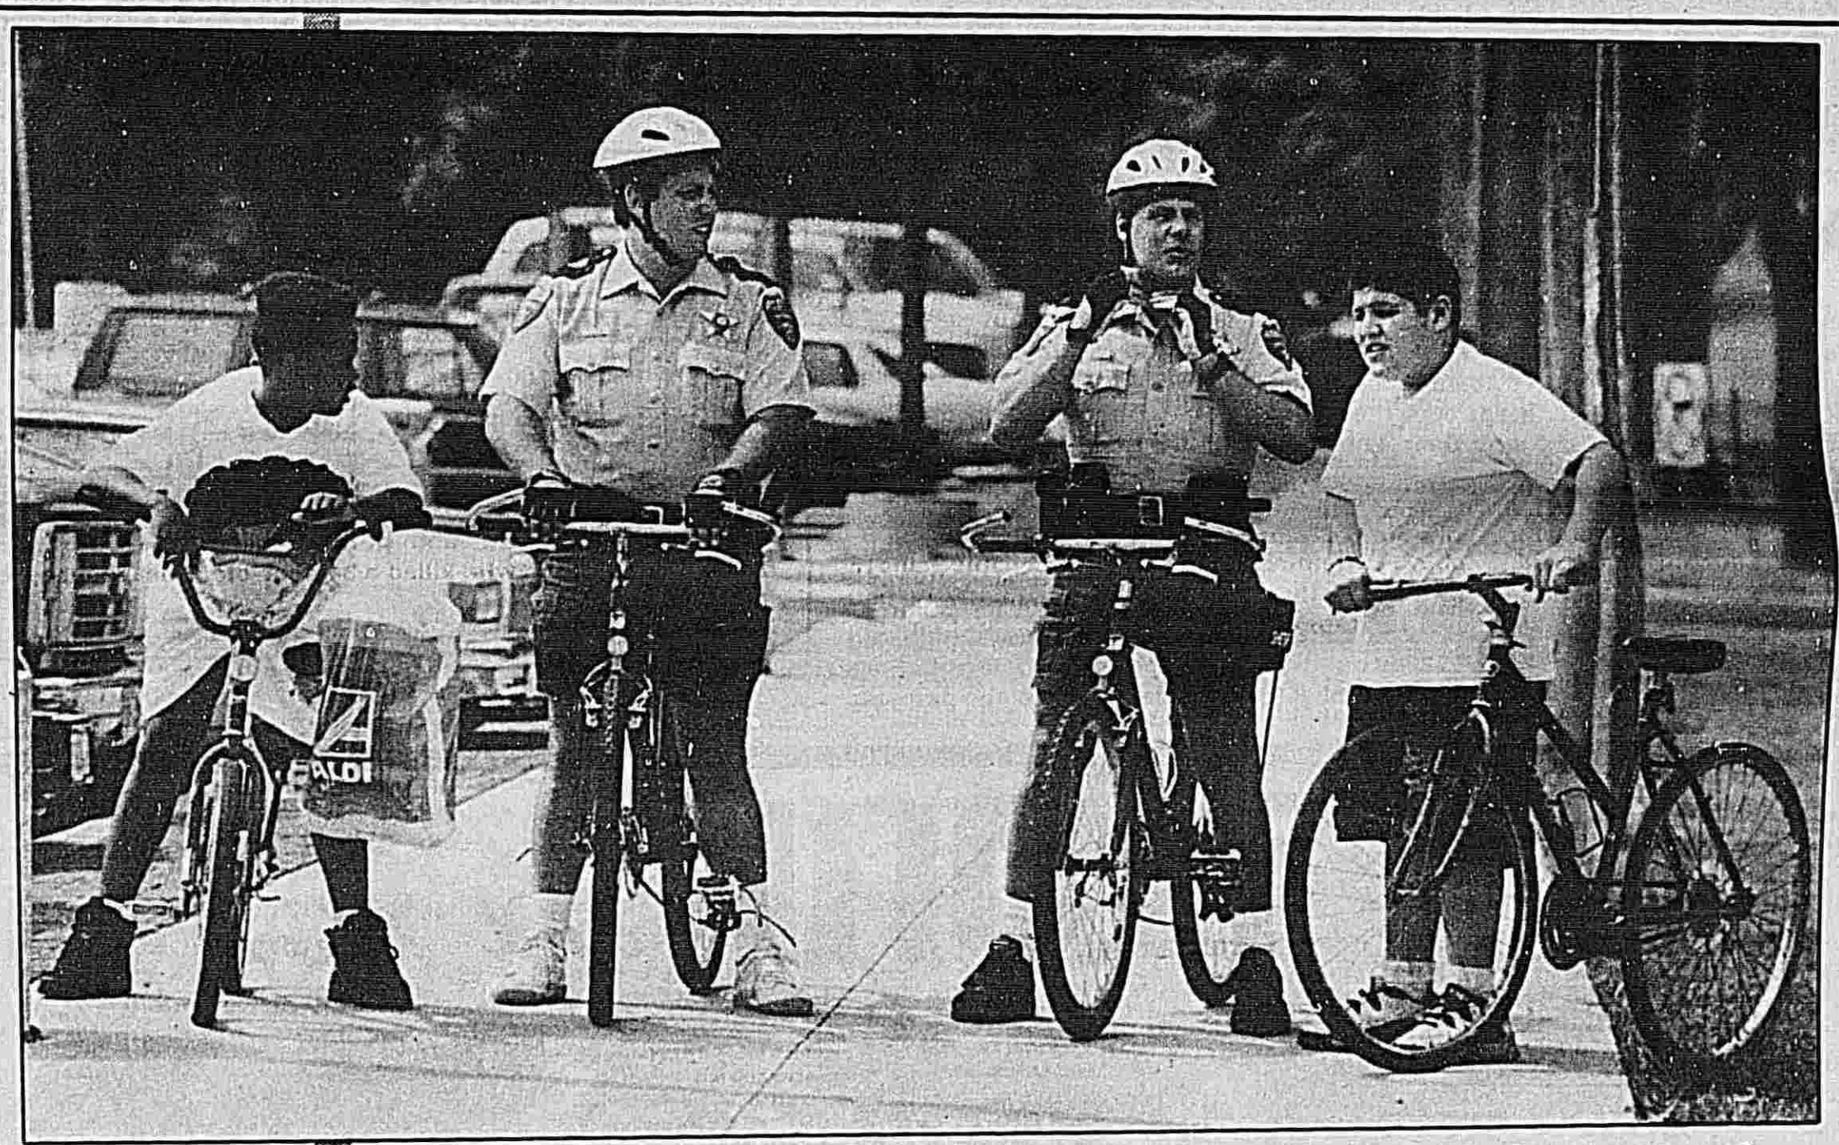

Manning received her BFA in theatre arts from the Univ. of North Carolina at Greensboro. Her experience in professional theatre is quite broad based. While living in Japan, Manning served as founder and artistic director for Troupe Panache Touring Theatre Ensemble and the Yokosuka Theatre Group. As a regional director for the San Jose Children's Theatre Company in California, Manning received extensive training while designing and directing all aspects of theatre for young people. These diverse experiences have served to shape and define Manning's approach to theatre.

Thoroughly involved in all aspects of the dramatic arts, Manning's expertise extends to performing, set and costume design and a long association with musical theatre both as actor and director. While living and working in Northern California, Manning was nominated for Best Actress, Bay Area. During her tenure at UNCG, Manning's facility with dialects helped earn her an

Deputies to pedal their way through County

Bridging the gap between the Lake County Sheriff's Department and the community, a new bike patrol began pedaling through the county last week. And, so far, residents seem to love the new program.

"I felt good and it was a unique experience," said Deputy Larry Oliver who is one of the six members of the Lake County Sheriff's Department bicycle patrol. "A very favorable reaction."

The bike patrol has a two- pronged purpose: to get closer to the community as well as crime detection and prevention. "This program is just one step in identifying new methods of better focus on the community problems and to develop solutions to potential crime problems," said Undersheriff Gary Del Re.

Community policing programs have sprung up all over the country. The concept essentially addresses the gap between the community and police. And while officers "walking the beat" may work in large urban areas, the shear breadth of the areas policed by the Sheriff's Department makes that nearly impossible.

Yet, Del Re realizes simply cruising around in police cars does not invite interaction between residents and officers. "We have also learned of the limitations of policing in vehicles," he said.

While no specific arrests have been made yet through the program, the community relations aspect of the bike patrol is already apparent. Since the patrol began hitting the streets June 23, public reaction has been positive.

The first two shifts of the new program rode through the Long Grove Strawberry

Festival. "In Long Grove, we had children following us," said Deputy John Jeffers. "They were asking us for our autographs."

In addition to the community policing aspect of the bike patrol, Del Re hopes the program will also reduce crime. In particular, by reducing gang and drug activity.

Deputy Tim Powell may have explained best how the physical interaction of bicycled deputies and the outside world will enable the Sheriff's Department to reduce crime. "Officers on the street are able to see, smell and hear things. They can use all of their senses," said Powell. "Things they can't notice in a car."

The bike patrol officers received their training through the Northern Illinois Municipal Training Board and the Zion Police Department. Del Re is hoping the Sheriff's bike patrol will soon have an arrest rate similar to Zion, which had 25 dug related arrests last year.

Captain Frank Winans will be in charge of the new patrol. He believes officers on bikes may increase the ability of officers to detect and stop crime. "Most criminal offenders aren't looking for police officers on bicycles," he explained.

Funding for the bike patrol came from money generated through drug arrest seizures. At a modest cost of $4,087, the Sheriff's Department purchased four modified Trek mountain bicycles weighing in at 25 pounds each. The "unisex" mountain bikes have street tires and upgraded brakes and shifter. With 27 speeds, these bikes have the same capabilities of most any other bicycle on the roads and pathways.

Staffing the patrol was done through a volunteer basis. "There is no new staffing," said Undersheriff Gary Del Re. Instead, officers will be paid via overtime rates and compensatory time.

Camping grounds great public buy

When all is said and done, amid all the flourishing talk of down-sizing government, there still are some things only government can do. Like acquiring land for public use.

Government, specifically a combination of local public bodies, acting in consort was the only way that a substantial portion of Ft. Sheridan could be preserved for public use. Because local officials kept plugging away, 290 acres of open space, including a golf course, will be turned over free to the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. with the help of the U.S. House of Representatives.

The Army was ready to turn over the whole century-old military installation to the highest bidder.

On a smaller scale, a much smaller scale, 47 acres in Grant Township practically is begging to be acquired by government. Formerly operated as a church-sponsored summer camp, the owning Baptist affiliate prefers that heavily wooded Camp Hickory be acquired for public use. Owners have indicated that they will sell to developers only as a last resort.

Taking a cue from the Fort Sheridan Joint Planning Committee, local officials would do well as soon as possible to form a body representing the township, Big Hollow School Dist. and the county to acquire the property, which includes a variety of camp-related buildings, for public use. The price of $1.4 million is considered a bargain.

Semi-secluded Camp Hickory would be a natural for public use. Grant Township is looking for new office quarters. The school district needs another site to accommodate residential growth. The county could use space for service branches or additional Forest Preserve.

It's not inconceivable that an agreement could be reached to have developers purchase the camp and turn it over to the various public agencies.

Lake County citizens owe a debt of gratitute to representatives of Highland Park, Highwood, Lake Forest and the county, along with Congressman John Porter, for not caving into the vaguaries of the Beltway bureaucracy. They showed us that special properties can and should be preserved for public use.

With Camp Hickory, there is a willing seller and a reasonable price. This is a golden opportunity for government to swing into action and for a change do something for the people instead of to the people.

Inflation bugaboo signals precaution

Environmentalists, open spacers and advocates of no growth may have a new ally—the specter of inflation.

Although no national recession is in sight, there is fairly wide agreement that industries that have been setting a torrid pace quite likely will be in store for a slowdown. That would include housing, one of Lake County's major employers.

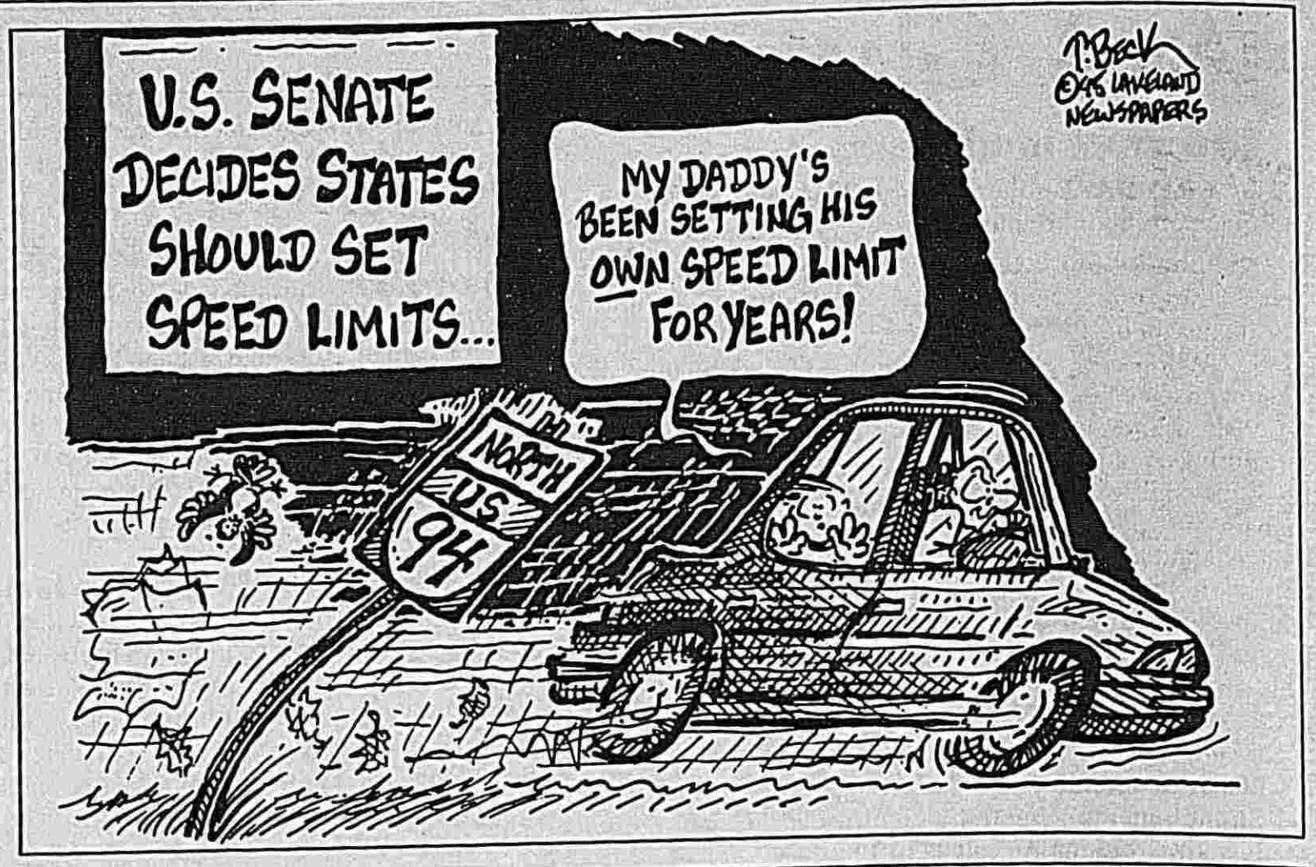

Some economists see housing as a soft spot. These forecasters predict double-digit drops for both used homes and construction starts, even in the face of attractive fixed-rate mortgages.

Local bankers and mortgage originators have been protecting themselves for years against economic fluctuations by peddling mortgages to secondary markets. Who would get hurt if the housing market tumbles? Obviously, builders and developers. Investors in mortgage-backed securities certainly would be impacted. The general public also would suffer when forced to make up for shortfalls in building fees and anticipated real estate taxes from new construction orchestrated by their elected officials.

A go-go attitude is well ingained in the ruling County Board majority and just about all of municipal government in this locality. So a national recession undoubtedly would send shock waves through job-rich Lake County, especially if the already hefty inventory of unsold homes is intensified.

As a rule, politicians seldom look farther ahead than the next election. They might well take stock, though, the next time the out-of-town developer cozies up with an armload of pretty blueprints and a fistful of cash for testimonial dinner tickets.

If growth is enevitable, as we are told so often, what's the hurry?

Relentless calendar marches into July

BILL SCHROEDER

Without a misstep or a heart palpitation, the second half of 1995 arrived despite the efforts of one political party (guess) to hang onto all the vistages of a ragged past and the relentless energy of the other party to rush our nation head-long into a new world unfettered by big government and regulations.

If you can unburden the fixation on how to cope with higher taxes here, there and everywhere, a lot of good things are happening.

At this midpoint, it's worth a pause to consider the brighter side of life. Come along with your faithful scribe for a moment.

FORT COURSE—After a lot of false starts and dashed hopes since 1989, the Lake County Forest Preserve is going to acquire another golf course for the taxpayers, the well worn 18-hole layout at Fort Sheridan, as part of a deal to close down the venerable military esablishment, plus some tree-lined ravines and scenic bluffs overlooking Lake Michigan.

The county will have to take care of the old Army cemetery, but as Steve Messerlie, executive director, put it, "That's a small price to pay to get 290 acres free and clear." Steve, you've got that right.

It seems like only yesterday that politicians were debating the merits of acquiring Countryside and Brae Loch. One stalwart on the County Board intoned, "the county has no business getting into the golf business." Oh, yeah? That was then and this is now.

★★★★★★★

Y GROWTH—Tino J. Mantella, president of the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago, is taking a personal interest in expansion plans at Camp Hastings YMCA that will carry the one-time summer camp to preeminent status. Central county residents are going to be the beneficiaries of a multi-million dollar expansion of the Lake Villa-Lindenhurst facility.

ROAD WORK—The state still is spending money (bad news) to find a solution to a problem everyone knows the answer—that Rte. 22 needs to be widened to four lanes from Old Skokie Hwy. (41) to Rte. 83.

The good news is that construction, according to Illinois Sec. of Transportation Kirk Brown, is ticketed to begin in 1999, with or without the good wishes of Lincolnshire residents. Officially, Brown says funds still are being sought to expand the roadway that's clogged morning and night. You'll lose if you bet against money not being raised some how, some way.

★★★★★★★

TIME CAPSULE—This column is indebted to fellow commentator Tom Roeser for supplying the names and dates for retention voting of Illinois Supreme Court justices who threw out Baby Richard with the bath water.

Tuck this paragraph away so all of us can stomp on the esteemed jurists when the time comes: Michael A. Bilandic (2000), Charles E. Freeman (2000), James D. Heiple (2000), Moses W. Harrison (2002) and John Nickels (2002). The wait will be worth it.

★★★★★★★

NEW LUSTER—It only took a few million here and a few million there to freshen up an old favorite, Ravinia. Lake County's shrine to serious music and sometimes pop music never looked better—or sounded better—than it does today. By the way, has there ever been a better jazz pianist than Oscar Peterson who "laid'em out" last Sunday?

★★★★★★★

BETTER WAY—Fox Lake Mayor Ken Hamsher is so excited about a multi-screen movie theater opening that he refers to the debut as "putting Fox Lake on the map." Once before, many years ago, Fox Lake was "in the book"—the Guiness Book of Records for having the most taverns per capita (58) of any community. Obviously, the mayor likes the new way of achieving recognition better than the old way.

WHOPPER TIME—Expert fibbers are being sought to compete in a liar's contest that will be part of opening day at the July 29 and 30 Illinois Storytelling Festival in Spring Grove. Natural ability will compensate for lack of public experience reeling off the best lulu, according to festival sponsors.

Employing a down-home atmosphere, the event, which carries a fairly hefty price tag of $15, is becoming a major tourist attraction in northern Illinois. Besides stories, there will be square dancing and picnicking.

★★★★★★★

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Because they're trussed up in lifejackets, Erika and John haven't decided yet whether or not taking a ride on gramp's pontoon boat is fun. Without a doubt, a splash in a plastic backyard pool would be their choice if they could voice an opinion.

Welton may step down following end of family era

Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton is considering not finishing his term after the demise of his family-run grocery business. Wholesaler Roundy's took over operations late last week.

Welton knew of the end of a 43-year era during a regular board meeting. Yet he kept his cool while at times officiating a debate on open government between a resident and a trustee. For what its worth, a Party Lines observer on the Gurnee beat for almost 10 years believes Welton should finish his new term started this spring. Projects such as an under study convention center, a 60-mile bike path and possible levee are worth Welton's attention.

Businesses, even long-standing ones, come and go, but, as Welton said, "I have bled for Gurnee." Welton said Gurnee residents will "let him know" if they want him to stay as mayor.

Swingin' Democrats— The Lake County Democratic Committee will present an evening at Ravinia, featuring Pat Metheny, July 18 at 6:30 p.m. The cost is $15 per person, which includes chairs, soft drinks and desserts. Those interested in attending should send checks to the Lake County Democratic Committee, 931 Glen Flora, Waukegan 60085. For more information call 623-4656.

Seeking Senate seat— Former state treasurer Pat Quinn has announced his candidacy for the U.S. Senate. Republicans are heralding the news because they believe Quinn is an easy defeat. According to the Republican Party, Quinn ran a disastrous campaign for secretary of state last year in which most Democratic leaders deserted him. Quinn is a career politician who has run or talked about running for almost every office in the state. Quinn says his record as State Treasurer show he knows how to create and save solid jobs without raising taxes, raising the budget or raising his own pay.

Leaky roof—Vernon Hills maintenance crews picked the wrong day to repair the roof at the village hall. After two weeks of no rain, crews took to the roof to repair some holes and weak areas, then a freak storm complete with hail thundered upon them dumping massive amounts of rain down various exposed sections. Within minutes the rain flooded the village hall basement where staff members were holding a meeting. Staffers could not escape before getting their feet wet. One staffer remarked, "It hasn't rained in two weeks, and it has to rain when we're fixing the roof."

"I'm getting a little nervous, especially since that Unabomber. It's kind of nerve-racking," said the pre-teen. He added though, how much he's looking forward to learning the culture of the continent.

Politicians ignore schools

Editor:

Unbelievable! Bob Depke, County Board Chairman, said, "Schools are not our responsibility" and moved quickly to approve county-owned sewer service for 2,100 houses on the Cuneo land.

The same sewer service the county board denied in 1988; in fact it never got out of the public works committee, which I chaired. Even worse, 19 other county board members blindly followed Depke.

His key supporters were Schulien, Raftis and Newton, and will cost Dists. 128 and 73 tens of millions, all at public expense. Add to this the 14,000 auto trips daily on local streets and roads generated by the new housing and many millions more for their improvements and repairs, also at public cost.

Partial-births abhorred

Editor:

U.S. Rep. Canady (R-FL) introduced legislation banning partial-birth abortions, a class of abortions in which a child is fully delivered during the procedure, except for the head. The American public would be appalled to know that abortionists are pulling viable babies from their mothers' wombs, stabbing them to death with surgical scissors and suctioning out their brains during this gruesome procedure.

Partial-birth abortions are performed at 12 to 20 weeks of gestation. At this age, the child is clearly able to feel what is happening to him/her.

Partial-birth abortions raise the question: What is the difference between killing a child half-born and killing one that has already been born? Please let your U.S. representative know that you expect him to support this legislation.

Blustery pols out of tune

Editor:

I was reading the Chicago area daily newspapers and on the TV was C-SPAN, relaying some of the Senate hearings from some subcommittee that has "terrorism" in its title. Mr. Specter is the chairman.

Several "militia" members were speaking and answering questions. I assume that the hearings were begun as a result of the bomb blast in Oklahoma City. I don't know what exactly the connection is between the two events other than Morris Dees' (of the Southern Poverty Law Center) statements and the subsequent media attention to the "militia movement." It seems more logical to conduct hearings into the U.S. Army as all of the current suspects received training in that body.

Mr. Specter was making some grandstanding outburst in response to a statement about Washington, D.C. being the center of corruption. To any observer it was clear that the comment was directed to Washington officials in general, not to anyone in particular, yet the chairman took the opportunity to twist the comment into a personal attack and shifted into "campaign mode" for the benefit of the cameras and the national news broadcasts, thereby making the militia members' point in a way he never could.

As I grimaced in distaste at this display of "our government in action," I returned to the local papers. During the next half hour I read the following stories in the Tribune and the Sun-Times.

1. Front page report of the wasteful spending of Chapter 1 funds by the worst school in a bad school system.

2. A parent being arrested for removing his failing student from a "study hall," notwithstanding he was tutoring him to success in school.

3. Continuing stories about the HUD takeover of the Chicago Housing Authority containing numerous references to the misuse of funds and the almost criminal condition of the Authority properties.

4. Stories in the continuing saga of Mel Reynolds and his finances, both personal and political.

5. A front page story about a Chicago high school's use of adult gang members in school as "monitors" of school attending gang members, that included discipline described as "beating the hell out of" school age gang members (as young as 14) that violated the gang (not school) rules.

6. A 3 or 4 year old girl returned to her parents by DCFS who was murdered by one or both of them within days of the return.

One day's worth of news about our failing, corrupt, inefficient, inept, incompetent, arbitrary and perhaps criminal government agencies that gets repeated almost every day. And the TV was still showing Mr. Specter's campaign show diatribe against some of the perhaps misguided, but almost certainly law abiding, militia members for daring to paint the government with the label of corrupt and in need of a "good spanking by the citizens." I think that spanking is long overdue.

I will do my best to urge my fellow citizens to look carefully at the actions of their elected officials and the agencies that they are responsible for and hold them to the standards that used to be commonplace in our society, not to be distracted by the bogeyman strategy employed by some in office and the media, and vote for those who are honest, open, forthright, consistent in their words and deeds. We don't want or need politicians who posture, bluster, obfuscate, lie, mislead or otherwise violate the trust that we all would love dearly to rekindle toward our government.

What makes a community

Editor

I recently read an article in the Illinois Municipal Review that listed the necessary elements to creating a healthy and secure community. Some of them are:

1. Strong and loving families with high expectations for their children's personal and community behavior.

2. Education that prepares students to perceive their responsibilities toward community and the individuals within it.

3. Streets, parks, public facilities and shopping areas that are safe, clean and well lighted.

4. A variety of activities for local citizens and visitors.

5. Neighborhoods that take friendly pride in themselves.

6. Emergency services that are coordinated and work quickly when a crisis occurs.

7. A steady supply of decent and rewarding jobs.

8. People who agree among themselves to obey and uphold the laws.

9. A community strategy with positive goals to make people stakeholders and give them something to work for, rather than against.

And finally, I would like to add two additional ingredients, "respect and responsibility."

Our community's goal should be to embrace these elements. As an elected representative of Gurnee, I will continue to work to accomplish that goal.

Route 53 extension may be open by 1999

JENNIFER WHISENAND

Route 53 may become a reality for Lake County residents as soon as 1999, according to latest projections from the Illinois State Toll Highway Authorities.

On Thursday, state representatives were able to hear the newest information available on the Route 53 extension through Lake County over coffee at a legislative breakfast hosted by the Village of Libertyville.

Many members of the legislature asked questions and expressed their opinions on a variety of subjects from wells to the active members of the CPC.

"There is no doubt in my mind that there is a need for the extension of Route 53," said State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-31).

Other groups attending the meeting included the Lake County Corridor Planning Council, Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) and the Illinois State Toll Highway Authorities (ISTHA).

"This tollway will be accountable to the people of today and those in the future," said Executive Director of ISTHA, Ralph Wehner.

Wehner said ISTHA wants to construct a roadway that will not create a large negative impact on the communities it will be running through.

'There is no doubt in my mind that there is a need for the extension of Route 53.'

— State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-31)

In completing this the municipalities have joined together and created an intergovernmental party called the Corridor Planning Council, (CPC).

The CPC is a group of different municipalities which are out to create organization within the communities and work with IDOT and ISTHA in planning a road that will benefit the communities.

One question that was brought up by Sen. William E. Peterson (R-26th) was the impact on the well water that will be located near the proposed route.

"Many of the residents in my district are concerned about their well water becoming contaminated and flooding in the area," Peterson said. "If these wells become polluted their property will become worthless," he added.

CPC member Richard Raftis, representing Lake County said, "Since I have been involved with the roads in Lake County I have not found one well that has been contaminated."

District 1 Engineer of IDOT, Duane Carlson stated IDOT is committed to working through the corridor study with the CPC and addressing the public's needs.

The next target set for IDOT is a public meeting, which will be held in the fall of 1995. The purpose of the meeting

Welton grocery era ends with takeover

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

"I'm broken hearted. It is like there has been a death in the family," Richard Welton said.

The Welton family spent the July Fourth holiday relaxing, but life in the past few weeks has been anything but a picnic. For the first time in 43 years, the Weltons are not operating a grocery store.

Welton's Pick 'N Save locations in Round Lake and Gurnee are now being operated by Roundy's, the wholesaler. The takeover began July 4.

"It was a life's work. I feel sad for the customers and team members," Welton said.

Welton's father, Arthur Sr. started the family business at a small store just past a hill on Grand Ave. in Gurnee. Then, in 1980 the Weltons began operation of their then called County Market store off Route 132.

"I remember asking my father if I could work there when I was in the fourth grade. I quickly grew tired of it, but my father taught me a lesson - you finish what you start," Harry Welton, company president, said.

"It is a changing lifestyle. People are eating out so much and are not buying groceries," Richard Welton said.

Welton said he is undecided about whether he will remain as mayor of Gurnee. He has held that position for 20 years. "If people feel I am an embarrassment, I will get out," he said.

The Weltons operated the Gurnee Piggly Wiggly Store and Welton's Management Services, which oversaw the then growing business.

"We were regarded as one of the top independent retailers in the country, but we did not have the where-with-all to compete," Richard Welton said.

Both Welton brothers cited competition as the main factor. A new Jewel store in Gurnee, one new one in Waukegan, Sam's Club and Super K-Marts in Vernon Hills and Round Lake area all led to their demise.

"We have been trying to hang on for the last three years. Closing the Mundelein store in 1993 gave us a temporary boost, but another Super K-Mart opened in Round Lake and Jewel in Waukegan. We did not have a chance to re-establish ourselves with more competition," Harry Welton, president, said.

"I have fond memories of the growing up years. Our most profitability came in the early '80s. The market is intense," Harry Welton said. "The grocery

Independent grocer hits tactics of big chain stores

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Is there a place in today's fast-food era for an independent grocer?

Jerry Ming, who operates Jerry's Parkway Foods in Grayslake and Fox Lake, does not believe the newly empowered large chain grocery stores are giving consumers the same service as independents. This comes in the wake of a 43-year family run grocery firm, the Weltons, having to turn over assets to Roundy's, their wholesaler.

"The big guys will buy a site for any amount of money that does not make business sense. They are willing to accept losses for three or five years amongst their other stores. It's a shame. The Weltons have worked hard for 40 years," Ming said.

Ming said more than just a grocery store was at stake.

"How many generations of kids paid for school by working for the Welton's? When civic organizations need support, they come to Jerry's and Welton's first. We are always supporting civic organizations - but some of the same people do not shop here and keep the independents alive," Ming said.

"What I see happening is an evolution of corporate chain stores taking over a marketplace - no matter what the cost," Ming said.

In addition to competition, the cost of doing business is very high in Illinois. "Our utility bill is $10,000 to $20,000 a month. In Wisconsin for the same size store, it would be $6,000 a month. That puts you behind the 8-ball before you start."

He said the large companies which set up on the outskirts of Lake County towns near intersections are killing downtowns. "They cannot afford to pay prices for land downtown," he said.

Ming's stores are also part of the Milwaukee-based Roundy's, which seized Welton's assets and began operating the stores last week.

"It was a business decision. Roundy's did not want to have to do it, but had to be responsible to others in the co-op. It was inevitable," he said.

Ming, a former Roundy's director, described the Milwaukee-based Roundy's as a $2.5 billion, seven state firm.

Trustee resigns from board

ROUND LAKE PARK—Trustee June Bessert has resigned from the village board. She cited personal reasons as the reason she was leaving. Besssert had served on the board for two years and said she enjoyed working for and serving residents. She added she enjoyed working with Mayor Charlene Beyer and regrets leaving before her term expires.

Rte. 53 meeting set in Gurnee

GURNEE—Gurnee residents will be able to give their views on the proposed extension of Route 53 as Illinois Department of Transportation hosts a Gurnee meeting next week. The meeting will be at 7 p.m., July 13, at Gurnee Village Hall. "The meeting will be held to talk about conceptual plans and the best ideas — nothing is final yet," Gurnee Trustee Mark Ratfelders said. Ratfelders is Gurnee's delegate to the Corridor Planning Council (CPC).

New LHS being discussed

VERNON HILLS—A developer has donated 15 acres for a new Libertyville High School site in Vernon Hills. School officials have expressed an interest in the site but have not made a firm commitment. As tentatively planned, a school facility would be located on the 15-acre parcel, but the athletic fields would be located on the former Nike missile site, which is within the district lines of Stevenson High School. Village officials said they would own the athletic fields and allow Libertyville High School use the fields through an intergovernmental agreement. Nearby residents have voiced some opposition toward a new high school near an upscale housing community.

VFW names All State team

GRAYSLAKE—Grayslake VFW Post 2245 Commander Bob Wegge has been honored by the state headquarters by being named to the Elite All State Team. Wegge achieved the honor by retaining 100 percent membership as well as adding 12 more members to the 66-member post. Quartermaster Jim Adkins was also named to the team on the strength of membership increases in the Grayslake, Lake Villa and Lake Zurich posts.

Fireworks cause confusion

ANTIOCH—The Independence Day fireworks display in Antioch ended in confusion for residents when the show had to be interrupted. People straying into the discharge area, minor eye complaints, and an injured fireman conspired to cause officials to stop the display for a brief time. Some residents believed the fireworks to be over and left only to discover the display resumed after a short period of time. None of the mishaps resulted in serious injury.

Lions named 'Club of Year'

LAKE ZURICH—The Lake Zurich Lions Club was named "Club of the Year" for 1994-1995 among 50 other clubs in the northwest and far north suburbs. This is among the highest designation it can receive. Lions Club President Jeffrey Sedlack said the honor caught them by surprise. Established in 1939, the Lake Zurich Lions have around 80 members, all who work for the betterment of the community.

Village to spread herbicide

WAUCONDA—The village will spread herbicide pellets in three five-acre locations on Bangs Lake to see if it helps with their battle against a growing weed population. Officials have agreed to let a herbicide company spread Sonar in the lake the morning of July 7. If it is successful, they will come back next spring to do a more intensive specific program. Officials said Sonar is not harmful to humans or fish, but kills weeds and other plant life.

Robber apprehended

ANTIOCH—A robbery which began in Antioch, wound up with a car chase, traffic accident, and a foot chase. But, in the end, the Lake Zurich Police apprehended Stephen H. Wilkinson, 30 of Wheeling. According to police, Wilkinson entered the ladies washroom of an Antioch Burger King and reached under a stall taking a 54 year-old woman's purse. A witness took down Wilkinson's license plate number, which led to the car chase in Lake Zurich. No one was seriously injured and Wilkinson was charged with battery and strong arm robbery.

Principal hits roof

ROUND LAKE PARK—Murphy School Principal Kevin Patterson ate 10 small pieces of crayfish on the school roof as part of a deal he made with students. Students were to read at least 200 pages in one week. The students fulfilled their end of the bargain and donated $500 to the school library as well. Patterson said the creatures didn't taste too bad but were a "little rich." He said he might try another motivational project next year but not the same thing.

Wauconda Rodeo rolls in

WAUCONDA—The Great Midwest Rodeo Tour rolls into town this weekend for the 32nd annual Wauconda Rodeo July 7, 8 and 9. Wauconda Chamber of Commerce officials are expecting this to be the biggest and best rodeo yet, with many top name cowboys and rodeo champions participating. The rodeo is held at Golden Oaks Equestrian Center, at Route 12 and Case Road, starting at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday. US 99 is holding a pre-rodeo kick-off party at the fairgrounds at 6 p.m. July 7. Tickets are available at the rodeo.

Police smoke out cannabis

LAKE VILLA—Lake County detectives have an arrest warrant pending after discovering three pounds of cannabis in a public storage facility in rural Lake Villa. A search, using the assistance of drug-sniffing dogs, was conducted after owners of the facility discovered someone had burrowed into more than a dozen of the storage compartments. Police became suspicious because nothing was disturbed in the violated compartments, leading to the belief that the offenders were looking for something specific as well as something valuable. Cannabis currently has a street price of $1,200 per pound.

Cyclist tries to flee police

FOX LAKE—A motorcyclist who led police on a several mile chase said he didn't stop when pursued because he had been drinking. Arrested on June 28 was Michael F. Pasko, 28, after he failed to pull over for Fox Lake police who warned him with lights and sirens for several miles. He had been traveling 61 mph in a 35 mph zone. They finally caught up with him at his home in Ingleside. The alleged offender occasionally looked over his left shoulder to see if police were still trailing him down Rollins Rd., according to reports. Then when he saw police, Pasko would accelerate, they said. They followed him down Washington St. in Ingelside and to his home at 510 Lincoln. He was charged with attempting to flee and elude police.

Forest board adopts land acquisition goal

In an effort to help maintain a proper balance between open space and development as Lake County continues to grow, the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners adopted a goal for land preservation and acquisition acreage at their June 23 meeting.

In the 1993 bond referendum, Lake County residents showed strong support for expansion and improvement of their Forest Preserves. The adopted land goal of 40 acres for every 1,000 residents will allow the Forest Preserve District to successfully meet this mandate. Forest Preserves offer residents and visitors a value of a lifetime by preserving land for wildlife habitat, trail and greenway corridors, wetlands, prairies and forests and for recreation and education opportunities.

"The goal recognizes the value of local, state and private park lands, and the special role the Forest Preserves play in complementing the work of other agencies," stated Jim LaBelle, Lake County Forest Preserve president. "It also ensures that Lake County maintains its unique position as home to the most endangered and threatened species of any county in Illinois and to a diverse blend of communities and amenities that provide a high quality of life for residents."

The land goal will increase the percent of Lake County's 292,000 acres protected as Forest Preserves from the current 6.6 percent to 8.8 percent by 2010. The District's total acreage during the same period would increase from 19,165 to 25,640 acres. In comparison to neighboring systems, Forest Preserve land accounts for 11.1 percent of total county acres in Cook and 10.4 percent in DuPage.

Camping grounds great public buy

When all is said and done, amid all the flourishing talk of down-sizing government, there still are some things only government can do. Like acquiring land for public use.

Government, specifically a combination of local public bodies, acting in consort was the only way that a substantial portion of Ft. Sheridan could be preserved for public use. Because local officials kept plugging away, 290 acres of open space, including a golf course, will be turned over free to the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. with the help of the U.S. House of Representatives.

The Army was ready to turn over the whole century-old military installation to the highest bidder.

On a smaller scale, a much smaller scale, 47 acres in Grant Township practically is begging to be acquired by government. Formerly operated as a church-sponsored summer camp, the owning Baptist affiliate prefers that heavily wooded Camp Hickory be acquired for public use. Owners have indicated that they will sell to developers only as a last resort.

Taking a cue from the Fort Sheridan Joint Planning Committee, local officials would do well as soon as possible to form a body representing the township, Big Hollow School Dist. and the county to acquire the property, which includes a variety of camp-related buildings, for public use. The price of $1.4 million is considered a bargain.

Semi-secluded Camp Hickory would be a natural for public use. Grant Township is looking for new office quarters. The school district needs another site to accommodate residential growth. The county could use space for service branches or additional Forest Preserve.

It's not inconceivable that an agreement could be reached to have developers purchase the camp and turn it over to the various public agencies.

Lake County citizens owe a debt of gratitute to representatives of Highland Park, Highwood, Lake Forest and the county, along with Congressman John Porter, for not caving into the vaguaries of the Beltway bureaucracy. They showed us that special properties can and should be preserved for public use.

With Camp Hickory, there is a willing seller and a reasonable price. This is a golden opportunity for government to swing into action and for a change do something for the people instead of to the people.

Inflation bugaboo signals precaution

Environmentalists, open spacers and advocates of no growth may have a new ally—the specter of inflation.

Although no national recession is in sight, there is fairly wide agreement that industries that have been setting a torrid pace quite likely will be in store for a slowdown. That would include housing, one of Lake County's major employers.

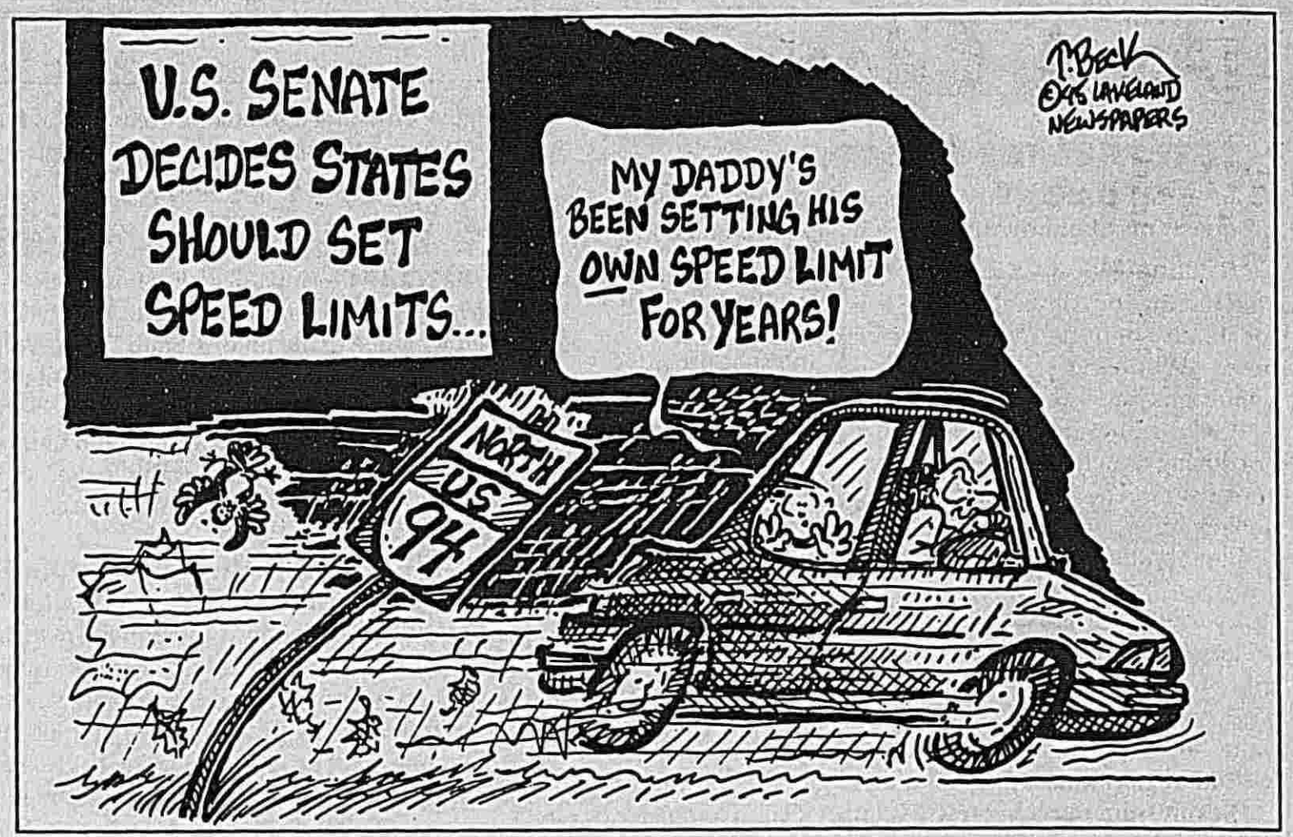

Some economists see housing as a soft spot. These forecasters predict double-digit drops for both used homes and construction starts, even in the face of attractive fixed-rate mortgages.

Local bankers and mortgage originators have been protecting themselves for years against economic fluctuations by peddling mortgages to secondary markets. Who would get hurt if the housing market tumbles? Obviously, builders and developers. Investors in mortgage-backed securities certainly would be impacted. The general public also would suffer when forced to make up for shortfalls in building fees and anticipated real estate taxes from new construction orchestrated by their elected officials.

A go-go attitude is well ingained in the ruling County Board majority and just about all of municipal government in this locality. So a national recession undoubtedly would send shock waves through job-rich Lake County, especially if the already hefty inventory of unsold homes is intensified.

As a rule, politicians seldom look farther ahead than the next election. They might well take stock, though, the next time the out-of-town developer cozies up with an armload of pretty blueprints and a fistful of cash for testimonial dinner tickets.

If growth is enevitable, as we are told so often, what's the hurry?

Relentless calendar marches into July

Without a misstep or a heart palpitation, the second half of 1995 arrived despite the efforts of one political party (guess) to hang onto all the vistages of a ragged past and the relentless energy of the other party to rush our nation head-long into a new world unfettered by big government and regulations.

If you can unburden the fixation on how to cope with higher taxes here, there and everywhere, a lot of good things are happening.

At this midpoint, it's worth a pause to consider the brighter side of life. Come along with your faithful scribe for a moment.

★★★★★★★

FORT COURSE—After a lot of false starts and dashed hopes since 1989, the Lake County Forest Preserve is going to acquire another golf course for the taxpayers, the well worn 18-hole layout at Fort Sheridan, as part of a deal to close down the venerable military esablishment, plus some tree-lined ravines and scenic bluffs overlooking Lake Michigan.

The county will have to take care of the old Army cemetery, but as Steve Messerlie, executive director, put it, "That's a small price to pay to get 290 acres free and clear." Steve, you've got that right.

It seems like only yesterday that politicians were debating the merits of acquiring Countryside and Brae Loch. One stalwart on the County Board intoned, "the county has no business getting into the golf business." Oh, yeah? That was then and this is now.

★★★★★★★

Y GROWTH—Tino J. Mantella, president of the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago, is taking a personal interest in expansion plans at Camp Hastings YMCA that will carry the one-time summer camp to preeminent status. Central county residents are going to be the beneficiaries of a multi-million dollar expansion of the Lake Villa-Lindenhurst facility.

ROAD WORK—The state still is spending money (bad news) to find a solution to a problem everyone knows the answer—that Rte. 22 needs to be widened to four lanes from Old Skokie Hwy. (41) to Rte. 83.

The good news is that construction, according to Illinois Sec. of Transportation Kirk Brown, is ticketed to begin in 1999, with or without the good wishes of Lincolnshire residents. Officially, Brown says funds still are being sought to expand the roadway that's clogged morning and night. You'll lose if you bet against money not being raised some how, some way.

TIME CAPSULE—This column is indebted to fellow commentator Tom Roeser for supplying the names and dates for retention voting of Illinois Supreme Court justices who threw out Baby Richard with the bath water.

Tuck this paragraph away so all of us can stomp on the esteemed jurists when the time comes: Michael A. Bilandic (2000), Charles E. Freeman (2000), James D. Heiple (2000), Moses W. Harrison (2002) and John Nickels (2002). The wait will be worth it.

★★★★★★★

NEW LUSTER—It only took a few million here and a few million there to freshen up an old favorite, Ravinia. Lake County's shrine to serious music and sometimes pop music never looked better—or sounded better—than it does today. By the way, has there ever been a better jazz pianist than Oscar Peterson who "laid'em out" last Sunday?

BETTER WAY—Fox Lake Mayor Ken Hamsher is so excited about a multi-screen movie theater opening that he refers to the debut as "putting Fox Lake on the map." Once before, many years ago, Fox Lake was "in the book"—the Guiness Book of Records for having the most taverns per capita (58) of any community. Obviously, the mayor likes the new way of achieving recognition better than the old way.

WHOPPER TIME—Expert fibbers are being sought to compete in a liar's contest that will be part of opening day at the July 29 and 30 Illinois Storytelling Festival in Spring Grove. Natural ability will compensate for lack of public experience reeling off the best lulu, according to festival sponsors.

Employing a down-home atmosphere, the event, which carries a fairly hefty price tag of $15, is becoming a major tourist attraction in northern Illinois. Besides stories, there will be square dancing and picnicking.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Because they're trussed up in lifejackets, Erika and John haven't decided yet whether or not taking a ride on gramp's pontoon boat is fun. Without a doubt, a splash in a plastic backyard pool would be their choice if they could voice an opinion.

Welton may step down following end of family era

Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton is considering not finishing his term after the demise of his family-run grocery business. Wholesaler Roundy's took over operations late last week.

Welton knew of the end of a 43-year era during a regular board meeting. Yet he kept his cool while at times officiating a debate on open government between a resident and a trustee. For what its worth, a Party Lines observer on the Gurnee beat for almost 10 years believes Welton should finish his new term started this spring. Projects such as an under study convention center, a 60-mile bike path and possible levee are worth Welton's attention.

Businesses, even long-standing ones, come and go, but, as Welton said, "I have bled for Gurnee." Welton said Gurnee residents will "let him know" if they want him to stay as mayor.

Swingin' Democrats— The Lake County Democratic Committee will present an evening at Ravinia, featuring Pat Metheny, July 18 at 6:30 p.m. The cost is $15 per person, which includes chairs, soft drinks and desserts. Those interested in attending should send checks to the Lake County Democratic Committee, 931 Glen Flora, Waukegan 60085. For more information call 623-4656.

Seeking Senate seat— Former state treasurer Pat Quinn has announced his candidacy for the U.S. Senate. Republicans are heralding the news because they believe Quinn is an easy defeat. According to the Republican Party, Quinn ran a disastrous campaign for secretary of state last year in which most Democratic leaders deserted him. Quinn is a career politician who has run or talked about running for almost every office in the state. Quinn says his record as State Treasurer show he knows how to create and save solid jobs without raising taxes, raising the budget or raising his own pay.

Leaky roof—Vernon Hills maintenance crews picked the wrong day to repair the roof at the village hall. After two weeks of no rain, crews took to the roof to repair some holes and weak areas, then a freak storm complete with hail thundered upon them dumping massive amounts of rain down various exposed sections. Within minutes the rain flooded the village hall basement where staff members were holding a meeting. Staffers could not escape before getting their feet wet. One staffer remarked, "It hasn't rained in two weeks, and it has to rain when we're fixing the roof."

Politicians ignore schools

Editor:

Unbelievable! Bob Depke, County Board Chairman, said, "Schools are not our responsibility" and moved quickly to approve county-owned sewer service for 2,100 houses on the Cuneo land.

The same sewer service the county board denied in 1988; in fact it never got out of the public works committee, which I chaired. Even worse, 19 other county board members blindly followed Depke.

His key supporters were Schulien, Raftis and Newton, and will cost Dists. 128 and 73 tens of millions, all at public expense. Add to this the 14,000 auto trips daily on local streets and roads generated by the new housing and many millions more for their improvements and repairs, also at public cost.

Partial-births abhorred

Editor:

U.S. Rep. Canady (R-FL) introduced legislation banning partial-birth abortions, a class of abortions in which a child is fully delivered during the procedure, except for the head. The American public would be appalled to know that abortionists are pulling viable babies from their mothers' wombs, stabbing them to death with surgical scissors and suctioning out their brains during this gruesome procedure.

Partial-birth abortions are performed at 12 to 20 weeks of gestation. At this age, the child is clearly able to feel what is happening to him/her.

Partial-birth abortions raise the question: What is the difference between killing a child half-born and killing one that has already been born? Please let your U.S. representative know that you expect him to support this legislation.

Blustery pols out of tune

Editor:

I was reading the Chicago area daily newspapers and on the TV was C-SPAN, relaying some of the Senate hearings from some subcommittee that has "terrorism" in its title. Mr. Specter is the chairman.

Several "militia" members were speaking and answering questions. I assume that the hearings were begun as a result of the bomb blast in Oklahoma City. I don't know what exactly the connection is between the two events other than Morris Dees' (of the Southern Poverty Law Center) statements and the subsequent media attention to the "militia movement." It seems more logical to conduct hearings into the U.S. Army as all of the current suspects received training in that body.

Mr. Specter was making some grandstanding outburst in response to a statement about Washington, D.C. being the center of corruption. To any observer it was clear that the comment was directed to Washington officials in general, not to anyone in particular, yet the chairman took the opportunity to twist the comment into a personal attack and shifted into "campaign mode" for the benefit of the cameras and the national news broadcasts, thereby making the militia members' point in a way he never could.

As I grimaced in distaste at this display of "our government in action," I returned to the local papers. During the next half hour I read the following stories in the Tribune and the Sun-Times.

1. Front page report of the wasteful spending of Chapter 1 funds by the worst school in a bad school system.

2. A parent being arrested for removing his failing student from a "study hall," notwithstanding he was tutoring him to success in school.

3. Continuing stories about the HUD takeover of the Chicago Housing Authority containing numerous references to the misuse of funds and the almost criminal condition of the Authority properties.

4. Stories in the continuing saga of Mel Reynolds and his finances, both personal and political.

5. A front page story about a Chicago high school's use of adult gang members in school as "monitors" of school attending gang members, that included discipline described as "beating the hell out of" school age gang members (as young as 14) that violated the gang (not school) rules.

6. A 3 or 4 year old girl returned to her parents by DCFS who was murdered by one or both of them within days of the return.

One day's worth of news about our failing, corrupt, inefficient, inept, incompetent, arbitrary and perhaps criminal government agencies that gets repeated almost every day. And the TV was still showing Mr. Specter's campaign show diatribe against some of the perhaps misguided, but almost certainly law abiding, militia members for daring to paint the government with the label of corrupt and in need of a "good spanking by the citizens." I think that spanking is long overdue.

I will do my best to urge my fellow citizens to look carefully at the actions of their elected officials and the agencies that they are responsible for and hold them to the standards that used to be commonplace in our society, not to be distracted by the bogeyman strategy employed by some in office and the media, and vote for those who are honest, open, forthright, consistent in their words and deeds. We don't want or need politicians who posture, bluster, obfuscate, lie, mislead or otherwise violate the trust that we all would love dearly to rekindle toward our government.

What makes a community

Editor

I recently read an article in the Illinois Municipal Review that listed the necessary elements to creating a healthy and secure community. Some of them are:

1. Strong and loving families with high expectations for their children's personal and community behavior.

2. Education that prepares students to perceive their responsibilities toward community and the individuals within it.

3. Streets, parks, public facilities and shopping areas that are safe, clean and well lighted.

4. A variety of activities for local citizens and visitors.

5. Neighborhoods that take friendly pride in themselves.

6. Emergency services that are coordinated and work quickly when a crisis occurs.

7. A steady supply of decent and rewarding jobs.

8. People who agree among themselves to obey and uphold the laws.

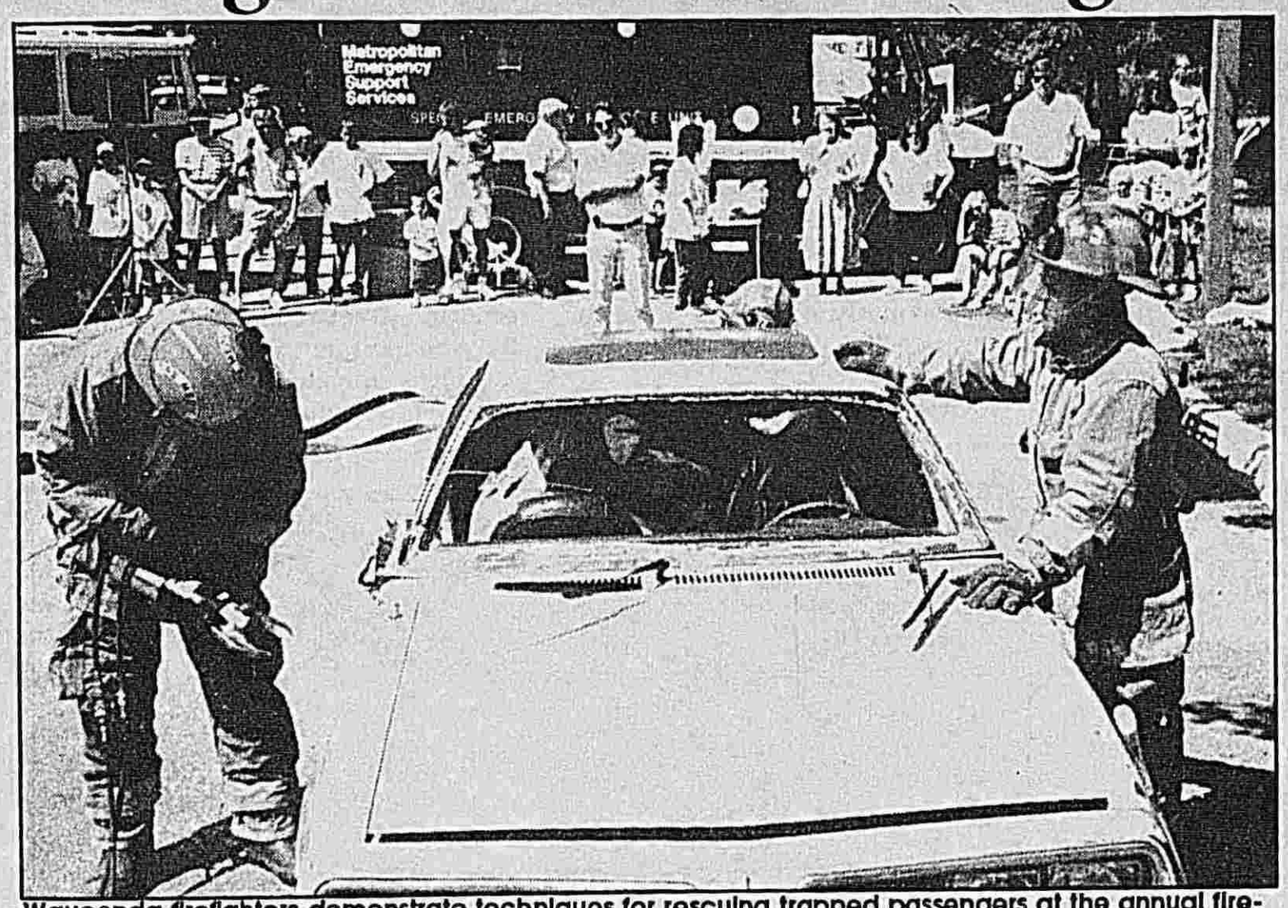

9. A community strategy with positive goals to make people stakeholders and give them something to work for, rather than against.

And finally, I would like to add two additional ingredients, "respect and responsibility."

Our community's goal should be to embrace these elements. As an elected representative of Gurnee, I will continue to work to accomplish that goal.

Firefighters take center stage at Lake County Museum

Wauconda firefighters demonstrate techniques for rescuing trapped passengers at the annual firefighter awareness day.

SPENCER SCHEIN

Firefighter buffs will get their fill this weekend at the Lake County Museum where old engines, ambulances and rescue demonstrations will take place.

The museum and the Wauconda Fire Department are co-sponsoring the third annual Firefighter Awareness Day July 9 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Lakewood Forest Preserve, located on Route 176, west of Fairfield Road near Wauconda.

A dozen fire departments from Lake and McHenry Counties are expected to attend the festivities and show everyone what they are all about, said William Glade, assistant chief of the Wauconda Fire Department.

"We want people to come out and see and meet and get to know what the fire service is all about," Glade said.

The day was formed to give people a chance to see both antique and modern vehicles and equipment and make them aware that fire departments do a lot more than just go out on rescue calls, Glade said.

Other areas of service include dive and technical rescues as well as providing safety educational services.

"A lot of the public is interested in fire departments," said Stacey Pyne, curator of education at the museum. "I think firefighters tend to be heroes and the general society looks up to them."

Different demonstrations will be held every half hour, including a dive rescue and car extraction.

The Fox Lake Fire Department will have its Safety House, as well as a 1954 Pirsch engine on display. Other old Pirsch engines will be provided by Wauconda (1931) and Round Lake (1929) Fire Departments. A number of engines and ambulances owned by private citizens will also be on display.

The Northern Illinois Medical Center will bring its Flight for Life helicopter down, and the museum will have its "Medical Milestones" exhibits on display.

The firefighter displays are free of charge, with entrance into the museum costing $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Lake County announces 5-year highway improvement program

Lake County Board Chairman Robert W. Depke has announced a 1995 through 1999 Highway Improvement Program that continues to emphasize maintenance of existing county highways and bridges.

"This five-year program focuses on maintenance under the revenue-raising limits of the property tax cap while undertaking the most critically needed expansion projects and continuing the planning for a future supplemental funding source," Depke said.

The five-year program was unveiled at the county's Public Service Committee meeting June 28. Committee Chairman Edward A. Rojtik explained that the county has access to three funds dedicated to highway improvements: The county bridge tax fund, the matching tax fund and the motor fuel tax fund. The first two funds are county taxes on real estate that now fall under the tax cap legislation providing for minimal revenue increases.

Lake County Div. of Transportation Dir. Martin G. Buehler said that the state's motor fuel tax allotments to the county have been growing very slowly, and that existing revenues have only been adequate for maintaining the existing system. "We are on a 20-year cycle for road resurfacings, about where we should be but the needed road widenings will take us another 75 years at current funding levels." Buehler added that the five-year program does not indicate the priority of any individual project. Priorities are developed during the yearly county budget cycle and design process. The county board must individually appropriate monies for each project from the appropriate fund.

Program highlights include:

•65.5 miles of highway roads to be resurfaced
•7.5 miles of highway roads to be reconstructed
•three bridges to be improved
•23 major intersections to have a three-lane improvement with signals
•four major intersections to have a five-lane improvement with signals
•five miles of road will be widened

Chairman Depke reiterated the county's need for a future user fee revenue source, the four-cent local gas tax. "This revenue that other Chicago area counties are collecting now while we cannot would be above current revenues and would enable gains to be made on the growing traffic congestion situation in Lake County," he said. "Without the four-cent local gas tax, we are experiencing a shortfall in excess of $14 million per year."

A local motor fuel tax would enable the county to double the annual highway improvement program funding but with emphasis shifted to capacity projects. It would allow for expanding the highway system with another six intersections to have a three-lane improvement with signals, and another five intersections would have a five-lane improvement with signals. Most importantly an additional 11 more miles of roads could be widened, and 3.5 miles of new roads could be built.

The county has issued a "transportation wish list" in May of 1995 that included a series of transportation improvements recommended as the first priority over the next 10 years to fund from the possible county option gas tax. In addition, the local gas tax would automatically trigger the collection of highway impact fees on new development by the county now stymied due to a lack of local matching funds.

The county's budget for fiscal year 1995-96 is in the planning stages. It historically has been adopted by the county board at the November meeting. The county's fiscal year begins Dec. 1

Dog, master find decomposed body

TINA L. SWIECH

Island Lake and the Illinois State police departments are trying to determine who killed a 34-year-old Chicago man, and why.

The subject, Carlos Garcia-Gonzalez was found by a man walking his dog in a wooded area near Rte. 176 and Darrell Road July 1 around 2 p.m.

Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson said the badly decomposed body appears to have been deceased for two, maybe three weeks. "Because it's been warm (the weather), it's very difficult to say for sure," said the coroner.

Richardson explained the subject was shot in the head, and possibly the chest.

Police haven't speculated if they know if Gonzalez was murdered in the location he was found, or if his body was dumped there later.

Among the things found in his possession was a temporary U.S. residency card, a small amount of cash and an address book.

industry is going through a large transition. The independents are being driven out of business by the large stores - but the large supermarkets have yet to prove themselves. They are doing a good job of running us out of business but are not necessarily the direction of the food industry."

The stores employed some 250 people, many part-timers. Harry Welton thanked their dedication.

"Many people worked for many years and all did a remarkable job. We have quality team members who have stayed with us through pay cuts, hard times and intense competition," he said.

"This was something we have been trying to stave off for a long time," he remarked.

The new Jewel store has only been open for six weeks. Welton did nothing as mayor to stop or discourage the competition from coming to his home base.

"One thing people will always say about me is that I have been fair," he said.

Long-time Gurnee residents remember the Weltons not only as a grocery store, but for the number of jobs offered. They were one of the main non-factory employers in the pre-Six Flags Great America, Gurnee Mills era.

"All my kids worked for the Weltons," James Yost, a former trustee, said.

"I love kids. Kids are only as good as the adults make them. Since working here, kids have gone on to be doctors, chiropractors and attorneys," Richard Welton said.

Roundy's has extended credit to Welton Food Mart, Inc., secured by the assets of Welton Food Mart, Inc., including the inventory and certain equipment, all of which is Roundy's collateral. Welton Foods and Roundy's are cooperating in a sale of the inventory at the existing stores.

ISTHA officials stated that if the plaza is to go near Winchester Road the plaza would be placed under the road and Winchester Road will remain at the same level.

The dual plaza is still being studied and the second plaza could be placed in Grayslake or Hawthorn Woods.

The Village of Mundelein is still very concerned with the construction standards through the village. Mundelein Village Administrator Kenneth Marabella stated that the village is working with the CPC, IDOT and ISTHA to be able to minimize most of the negative impact to the largest degree.

State Rep. Robert W. Churchill (R-62nd) said that he views the municipalities that have dropped out of the CPC in a different light.

"IDOT and the Tollway said they would bend over backwards to help these communities, and some of them are dropping out of the CPC," Churchill said. "These communities are quitters in my mind," he added.

Municipalities which have dropped out of the CPC include Long Grove and Hawthorn Woods.

Another question asked at the informational meeting was when the tollway was to be completed. ISTHA stated that being optimistic they would look at opening in 1999.

The next step is to complete the Environmental Impact Study (EIS) and hold the Fall of 1995 Public Hearing, where IDOT and the ISTHA will hear public comments, discuss environmental analysis and alternatives including no-build.

Bowen Park Theatre names new artistic director

Lynn Schornick, superintendent of cultural arts for the Waukegan Park Dist., has announced the appointment of Maura Elizabeth Manning as the new artistic director for the Bowen Park Theatre Company. Manning was one of four candidates vying for the position with the company. "We had four excellent candidates from which to choose," said Schornick. "Each brought something very special and different to the Bowen Park Theatre Company. It is never an easy choice when you are faced with fine quality choices. Ms. Manning brought not only exceptional talent through her stage directing, but also an almost immediate involvement in the community," he added.

Manning is a resident of Glen Ellyn and has lived in North Carolina, California and in Japan. She did a considerable amount of theatre in each of those areas. She will become the third artistic director for Bowen Park Theatre. The company was founded in 1986 by Lynn Schornick and Kenneth Smouse of Antioch. Mark Heller succeeded Smouse upon his retirement from the company. Heller resigned as artistic director near the end of the 1994-95 season and a search process for the new director began.

"A committee screened over a dozen applicants," said Schornick. "From that group we chose our candidates. They made suggestions of three plays for the season. We then balanced our scheduling with their availability and choices. Building a season with one director is interesting enough, but building a season with more than one is a very interesting balancing act," Schornick added. "We welcome Maura Manning as the new artistic director of the Bowen Park Theatre Company for the 1995-96 season and our 10th anniversary year."

Maura E. Manning

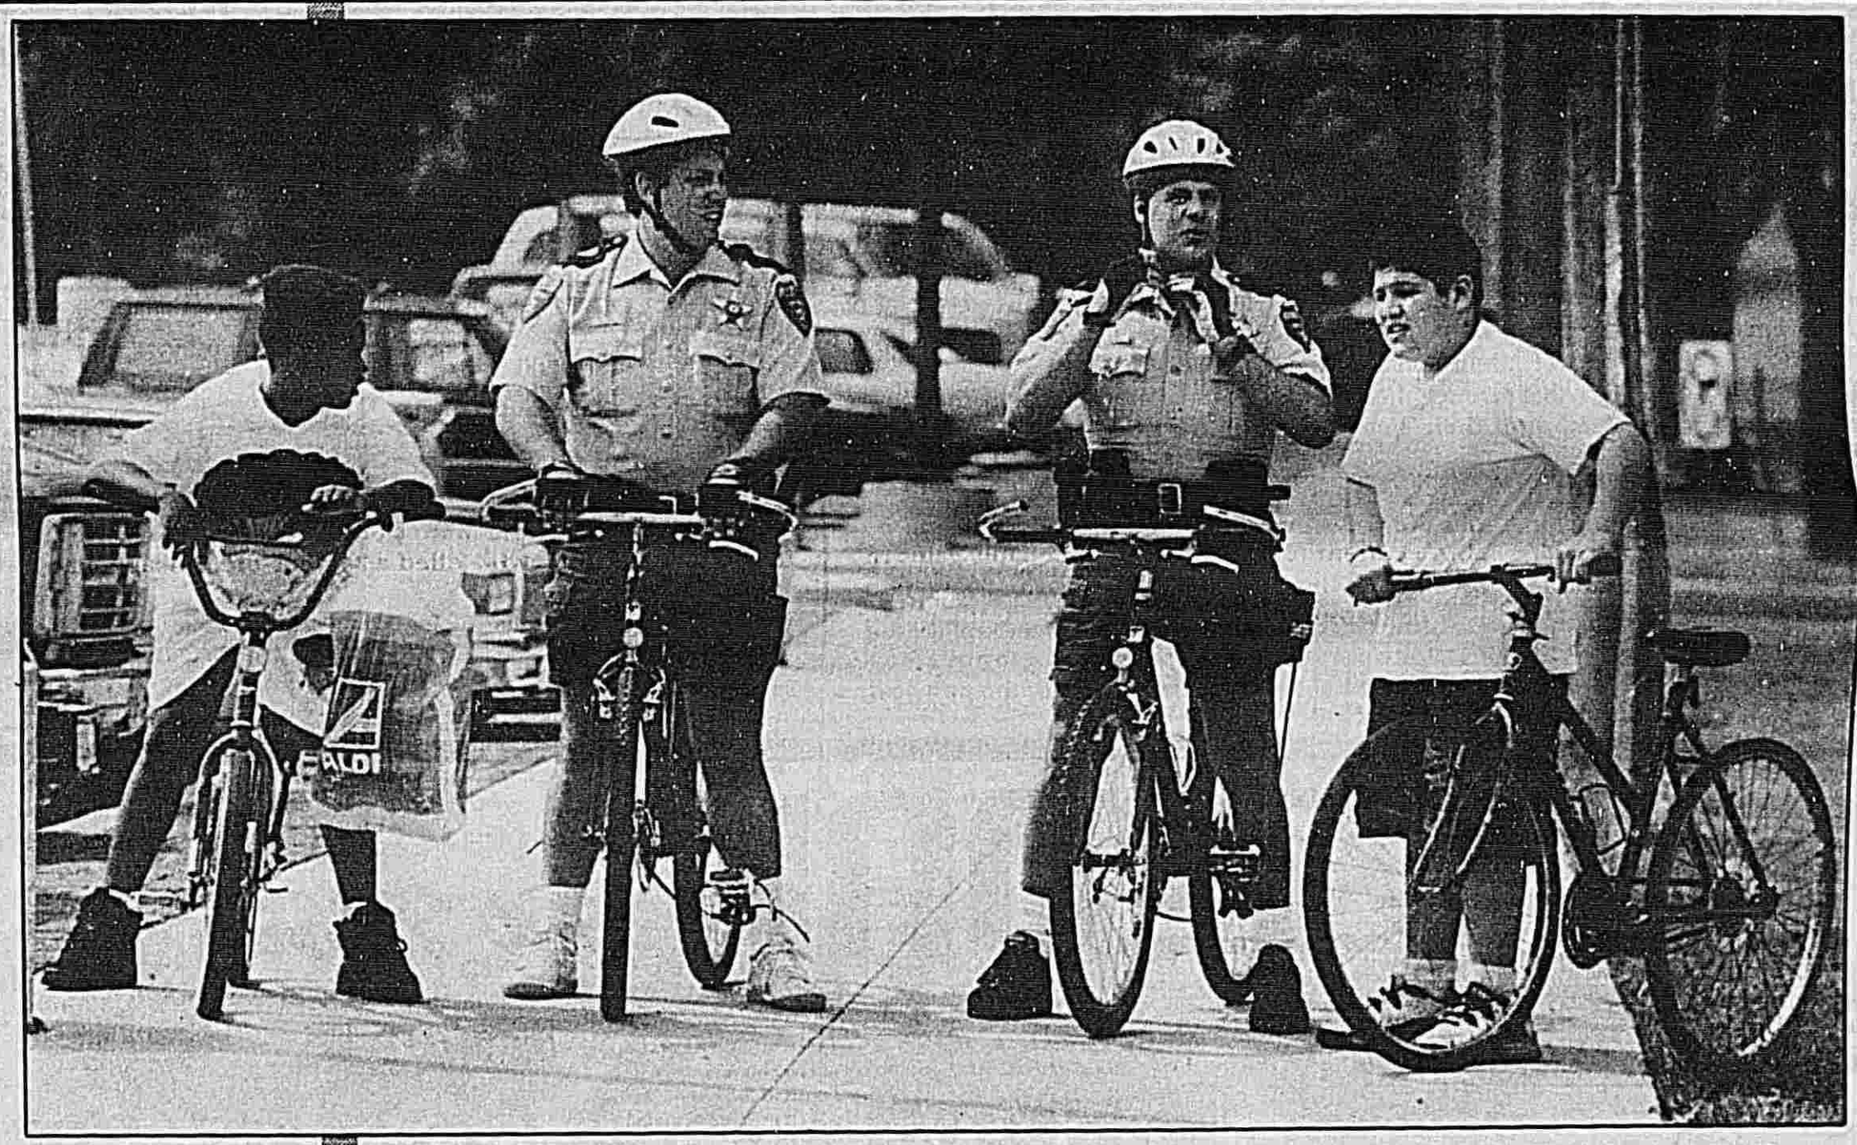

Manning received her BFA in theatre arts from the Univ. of North Carolina at Greensboro. Her experience in professional theatre is quite broad based. While living in Japan, Manning served as founder and artistic director for Troupe Panache Touring Theatre Ensemble and the Yokosuka Theatre Group. As a regional director for the San Jose Children's Theatre Company in California, Manning received extensive training while designing and directing all aspects of theatre for young people. These diverse experiences have served to shape and define Manning's approach to theatre.

Thoroughly involved in all aspects of the dramatic arts, Manning's expertise extends to performing, set and costume design and a long association with musical theatre both as actor and director. While living and working in Northern California, Manning was nominated for Best Actress, Bay Area. During her tenure at UNCG, Manning's facility with dialects helped earn her an

Deputies to pedal their way through County

Bridging the gap between the Lake County Sheriff's Department and the community, a new bike patrol began pedaling through the county last week. And, so far, residents seem to love the new program.

"I felt good and it was a unique experience," said Deputy Larry Oliver who is one of the six members of the Lake County Sheriff's Department bicycle patrol. "A very favorable reaction."

The bike patrol has a two- pronged purpose: to get closer to the community as well as crime detection and prevention. "This program is just one step in identifying new methods of better focus on the community problems and to develop solutions to potential crime problems," said Undersheriff Gary Del Re.

Community policing programs have sprung up all over the country. The concept essentially addresses the gap between the community and police. And while officers "walking the beat" may work in large urban areas, the shear breadth of the areas policed by the Sheriff's Department makes that nearly impossible.

Yet, Del Re realizes simply cruising around in police cars does not invite interaction between residents and officers. "We have also learned of the limitations of policing in vehicles," he said.

While no specific arrests have been made yet through the program, the community relations aspect of the bike patrol is already apparent. Since the patrol began hitting the streets June 23, public reaction has been positive.

The first two shifts of the new program rode through the Long Grove Strawberry

Festival. "In Long Grove, we had children following us," said Deputy John Jeffers. "They were asking us for our autographs."

In addition to the community policing aspect of the bike patrol, Del Re hopes the program will also reduce crime. In particular, by reducing gang and drug activity.

Deputy Tim Powell may have explained best how the physical interaction of bicycled deputies and the outside world will enable the Sheriff's Department to reduce crime. "Officers on the street are able to see, smell and hear things. They can use all of their senses," said Powell. "Things they can't notice in a car."

The bike patrol officers received their training through the Northern Illinois Municipal Training Board and the Zion Police Department. Del Re is hoping the Sheriff's bike patrol will soon have an arrest rate similar to Zion, which had 25 dug related arrests last year.

Captain Frank Winans will be in charge of the new patrol. He believes officers on bikes may increase the ability of officers to detect and stop crime. "Most criminal offenders aren't looking for police officers on bicycles," he explained.

Funding for the bike patrol came from money generated through drug arrest seizures. At a modest cost of $4,087, the Sheriff's Department purchased four modified Trek mountain bicycles weighing in at 25 pounds each. The "unisex" mountain bikes have street tires and upgraded brakes and shifter. With 27 speeds, these bikes have the same capabilities of most any other bicycle on the roads and pathways.

Staffing the patrol was done through a volunteer basis. "There is no new staffing," said Undersheriff Gary Del Re. Instead, officers will be paid via overtime rates and compensatory time.

Stage Two celebrates 10th season

Following nine years of performance, first at the College of Lake County and then in downtown Waukegan, Stage Two has announced its 10th anniversary season in a whole new venue. The ambitious theatre company will be renovating an empty building in Highwood and moving its entire operation 12 miles south of their current Waukegan home. When they arrive, they will have a full plate of performances in a community famous for its fine dining opportunities.

"We're going to begin the coming season right where we left off with our third annual Ray Bradbury Theatre Festival, featuring 'Fahrenheit 451'," notes artistic director Timothy Mooney. "In previous years, Bradbury himself has gotten involved in the project, making a personal appearance at the first festival and recording his voice as the narrator of 'The Martian Chronicles' last year." In response to anticipated demand to this perennial sellout, Stage Two has scheduled an unprecedented seven-week run from Aug. 31 to Oct. 14.

The second play of the season (Nov. 30 to Dec. 31) introduces Christmas with a revival of "All Through the Night," a hit as an "extra season" show last December. This year, Stage Two elevates this drama of eight lost travellers in a magical train station, to a "Premiere Season" slot with a full five-week run.

Immediately following is the world premier of "The Adjustment" (Jan. 11 to Feb. 10), a comic drama by New York playwright Michael T. Folie. It features a Jewish chiropractor with Parkinson's disease whose business is failing until a savvy but stressed-out businesswoman discovers his magical touch and takes a personal interest in his success.

"Living in Sin" (March 7 to April 6) is Stage Two's third venture into the plays of Matthew Calhoun, a Glen Ellyn native, whose "Kitchen Therapy" and "Tortured People" were enthusiastically received in Waukegan. Calhoun's new comedy updates the stores of Adam and Eve and Cain and Abel through the eyes of their "sis" and their pet "serpent."

The final play of the 1995-96 season is the riveting sensual drama that formed the basis for the film "Dangerous Liaisons." "Les Liaisons Dangereuses (May 2 to June 1) penetrates the courtly manners of the 128th century French aristocracy, with a ribald and at times vicious portrayal of sex and seduction as tools of power.

Scattered between the shows of the premiere season, Stage Two has also planned a full "extra season" of plays which will keep the theatre open nearly every weekend from August to June. One of the theatre's most popular features has been its children's series, and this year's plays feature repeat visits by favorite Stage Two playwrights of the past year.

Critic's Choice

Classic 'South Pacific' production at playhouse

Aimee Devlin and Garrett States in 'South Pacific' at Candlelight in Summit.

Candlelight Dinner Playhouse has done a bang-up job in presenting its latest musical, "South Pacific," an American theatrical classic.

There's nothing stodgy about this 1949 Rodgers and Hammerstein work directed by William Pullinsi and winningly choreographed by Andrew Lupp.

Set in the exotic south seas during World War II, this is an enduring tale involving affairs of the heart between an easily charmed American nurse and a mysteriously charming French planter and between a U.S. lieutenant and a comely young native girl.

Ultimately, a deadly war mission brings the two men together. In between, there's plenty of time for laughter and singing.

The play is rooted in well-known favorites such as "Bali Ha'i," "There is Nothing Like a Dame" and "Younger Than Springtime."

Aimee Devlin and Garrett States are well cast in the lead, she as Nurse Forbush ("I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Out-a My Hair") and he as the dashing Emil de Becque ("Some Enchanted Evening").

Curt Dale Clark is the mellow-voiced young lieutenant. Other strong performances come from Karen Anice Long as the ambitious Bloody Mary and Brian Horton as Luther Billis, a comical conniver.

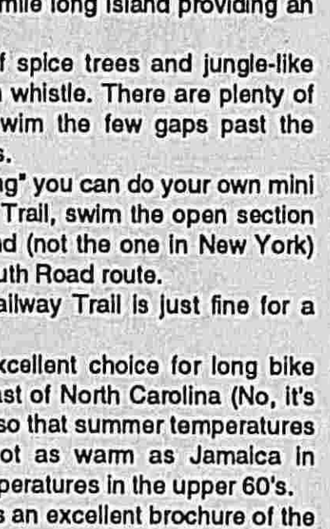

Candlelight's in-the-round stage is a natural for the paradise-like island setting; Stephen Packard's scenic design is lush in its simplicity.

"South Pacific" will run through July 23. Ticket information is available at 496-3000.—by TOM WITOM

Bicycling Through Bermuda

by JIM WARNKEN,
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Born in October of 1931, the Bermuda Railway lived only 17 years, making its final run in 1946. Seems the popularity of the automobile put "Old Rattle and Shake", as it was affectionately known, out of business.

This short lived Railway did, however, leave behind a memorial.

Starting from Old St. George's to Somerset, a single track trail still cuts westward through 21 miles of this 27 mile long island providing an ideal bicycle trail.

As you cycle past seascapes, forests of spice trees and jungle-like foliage you can almost hear a ghostly train whistle. There are plenty of opportunities to cool off if you want to swim the few gaps past the pylons that once supported the train trestles.

In fact, if you're really into the "fitness thing" you can do your own mini triathlon. You can jog the 21 mile Railway Trail, swim the open section between Ferry Point Park and Coney Island (not the one in New York) and bicycle 25 miles back on the paved South Road route.

For the rest of us, the Old Bermuda Railway Trail is just fine for a leisurely bicycle ride or relaxing walk.

Bermuda's weather also makes it an excellent choice for long bike rides. Located about 800 miles off the coast of North Carolina (No, it's not in the Caribbean) it's far enough North so that summer temperatures rarely rise above the mid 80's. While not as warm as Jamaica in January, the Gulf Stream keeps winter temperatures in the upper 60's.

The Bermuda Department of Tourism has an excellent brochure of the trail complete with photos and section by section map. I can't seem to get them to send me more than one at time, but you can get one from them directly by calling 1-800-223-6106 and ask for "The Bermuda Railway Trail Brochure".

LIFE'S A BEAR

DONNA ABEAR

Pass the Alka Seltzer, please

The human memory is a strange thing. Take a person, for instance, who can recall that they had a little brown dog named "Whitey" when they were three. This very same person will consume mass quantities of alcohol at a party one night, where they will indulge in strange sports like drinking from a large keg of beer while singing "I Love My Girl" as they hang upside down from a light fixture.

The next day, when they wake up with either a) their arms wrapped around a cold porcelain appliance, or b) their arms wrapped around a stranger who somehow transformed from Cindy Crawford into Roseanne during the night, this person will vow, "I don't ever, ever want to drink like that again!" And then, miraculously, a month later (or for those with even shorter recall, days later), they will repeat the whole process, having totally forgotten both the hangover and their vow.

Yes, scientists are still trying to determine why humans have "selective memory syndrome" when it comes to hangovers. Numerous tests have been conducted, and scientists have actually consumed mass quantities of alcohol and endured hangovers in the interest of science. However, results are inconclusive since no one can remember what they were testing for in the first place.

This could explain why my husband and his college fraternity buddies continue to relive their college days (or is that college "daze"?) whenever they get together, as they did this past weekend at a Ramada Inn in Moline, Ill. At least once a year these members of the Monmouth College chapter of the ATO fraternity (in Latin, ATO stands for Alpha Tau Omega —now, don't quote me, but I think the English translation is Absolutely Tanked Often), like to arrange a party somewhere, including their wives or significant others, where they do their best to recreate their hangovers of yesteryear.

However, while the mind, courtesy of the "selective memory syndrome," may still be willing to cooperate, the pushing-40-years-old flesh isn't. Not that we didn't give it the "good old college try." At one point or another in the evening, someone was dancing on the tables, another was removing his shirt on the dance floor while snapping his belt on the floor and singing the theme from "Rawhide," and a few others were jumping the fence for a little midnight skinny-dipping in the pool. Some things never change.

What changes is the scene the next morning, as we all sat around the pool in dark glasses, discussing the night before.

"Owww. My ankle hurts. I think I twisted it falling off the table when I was dancing."

"Pass the Alka Seltzer."

"Ooh. Ouch. My hip is killing me. I must have twisted it when I jumped over the fence."

"Please pass the Alka Seltzer."

"The fence? Were you skinny-dipping, too?"

"No, my husband was. Can you believe what's her name wears thong underwear?"

"I really need the Alka Seltzer."

"Anyone see my belt?"

"Forget the Alka Seltzer. What about some aspirin?"

Finally, someone shakes their head and asks, "When are we too old to do this?" No one could answer. The trouble is, we can't remember getting old. Maybe that "selective memory syndrome" is a good thing.

Still, just to be safe, next year we'll meet at "The Discovery Zone." They have padding on the floor.

Love triangle heats up 'First Knight'

The story of King Arthur, Queen Guinevere and Sir Lancelot has never been one of this reviewer's favorites. "Camelot," the musical version done both on stage and on film, though it featured some beautiful Richard Rodgers songs, was wordy, clanky and very stiff, again our least favorite musical.

Now we have a 1995 version, "First Knight," with a power cast headed by Sean Connery, Julia Ormond and Richard Gere.

This one we enjoyed more than any of the other versions. It is simply a love triangle surrounded by million-dollar battle scenes.

Never before were the three principals human instead of magical legends. Connery, who seems incapable of turning in a bad performance, is a classy and likeable Arthur, regal enough to be a king, yet all man beneath that weighty armor.

Ormond, one of the fastest rising females on film, is a perfect Guinevere. She looks right on the throne next to Arthur, yet her love scenes with the stormy young knight seem real. Never before has the Lancelot-Guinevere romance been fiery enough to make a queen risk her throne and a knight his life.

Gere, like Kevin Costner in "Robin Hood," makes no attempt to don the medieval accent and trappings of a knight of the round table. He simply plays a tough fighter with a forbidden love he finds irresistible and all-consuming.

This is no fairy tale with wizards and spells. It's a soap opera love triangle, as sexy as they come, with a cuckolded husband venting his anger in spades.

There will be those who criticize bringing the glorious round table down to soap-opera level, but Gere and company made me care about the medieval triangle for the first time.

There's still plenty of pomp as the sweeping battles rage, the costumes are gorgeous and there's action galore!

Call us crazy, but an English king with a Scottish accent, and a knight who may have been raised in Manhattan, worked for us because it's love that makes this one go round.

We rate it four out of five stars for not boring us with the usual overlong historical hodge-podge.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Christian Motorcyclists Association celebrates 20 years

Twenty-thousand bikers have converged on the little town of Hatfield, Ark., as the Christian Motorcyclists Assn. celebrates its 20th anniversary with a week-long event. It was there that Herb Shreve, a Baptist minister, saw the need for sharing God's love with bikers. He realized that here was a part of society that the church would not reach.

Today the group has 50,000 members, six full-time evangelists and a worldwide ministry. An annual fund-raiser has netted over $2 million to help present the gospel to millions of people around the world.

Twenty-three members from the Ambassadors, a local chapter based in the Zion/Waukegan area, planned to attend the rally, according to chapter president Ray Horwath.

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Be leery of those who would take advantage of you in financial matters this week. You are being a bit too generous. The beginning of the week finds you introspective. Later, ingenuity leads to career success.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Be careful that money doesn't become an issue between you and your significant other this week. A spur-of-the-moment pleasure outing provides great times in the middle of the week. Romance comes unexpectedly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Office politics are the cause of some unpleasantness at work this week. Do your best to stay out of the fray. Home-based activities prove to be more rewarding this weekend than socializing.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) A travel plan could be changed unexpectedly. Undercurrents could affect your relationship with a child this week. Follow a partner's lead where good times are concerned. However, be sure you keep an eye on expenses connected with this.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) A relative isn't exactly ecstatic about one of your friends. However, you must realize this person can't easily be satisfied. Be true to yourself. An old bill comes due. New moneymaking opportunities arise on the job.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You have a feeling that a certain business proposition has unwanted strings attached and you're right. Examine this more carefully. A partner is preoccupied now and needs to be approached about this. The weekend brings a pleasant surprise.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) A travel offering may not be the bargain it appears to be. Some have a new inspiration about home decorating. However, this should be done slowly since these plans are somewhat ambitious. Unexpected company drops by.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A money situation seems complicated this week. While you're not in the mood for socializing now, a chance encounter could lead to fun times for all concerned. The weekend is a veritable flurry of activity for you.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Keep the lines of communication open with a loved one who is being rather withdrawn and sullen. Don't allow a wall of silence to come between the two of you. In business, you'll meet with an unexpected opportunity.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You could change your mind about taking a trip you planned a while ago. A friend's jealousy of you takes you by surprise since this person has always seemed to be supportive. This weekend, fun comes through cultural pursuits.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You could decide against purchasing an item now which is a bit too expensive. Power politics are very much in evidence on the job this week. However, you are able to negotiate your way through this gracefully.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You are overly serious as the week begins, but your spirits lighten up later on. Others react negatively to your demands on the job. Couples receive an unexpected invitation to visit with friends for the weekend.

Firefighter Awareness Day at Lake County Museum

An appearance by the Flight for Life helicopter is one of the highlights of the third annual Firefighter Awareness Day from 1 to 4 p.m. on Sunday, July 9 at the Lake County Forest Preserves' Lake County Museum near Wauconda. The Flight for Life helicopter will make a special appearance from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

Firefighters from throughout Lake County will present demonstrations of fire and rescue techniques and equipment while teaching about fire safety. The event includes a display of antique and modern fire engines.

The museum also will accept donations to restore a silk banner that was presented to the Waukegan Fire Department by the City of Kenosha in 1892. Recently conserved at the Chicago Conservation Center, the banner will be on display in the Lake County Museum throughout the day of the Firefighters program.

Firefighters Awareness Day is co-sponsored by the Wauconda Fire Dept., with the assistance of other local fire departments. Outdoor program activities are free.

Admission to the Lake County Museum is $2 for adults and $1 for students. Children under 4 are free. For more information call, 526-7878.

STOCK WATCH

Dow on the rise

Based on signs of weak economic growth, stocks rose sharply this week, surging over the 4,500 mark. The attitude by investors is now wait and see as they speculate how the Federal Reserve will react. Some say interest rates will hold while yet others believe the Fed will ease interest rates. Trading lightened up while the wait for a decision continued. To add to the complex mix, consumer spending was up while May figures said personal income dropped.

STOCKWATCH will return next week.

Mortgage deduction threatened by feds

The deductibility of mortgage interest is one of the few remaining incentives provided by the federal government to promote home ownership growth in the United States. And, that future is now being threatened by the U.S. Congress.

One proposal, by Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Oregon, would eliminate the deductibility of mortgage interest on any amount of a home loan exceeding $250,000. Another, by Rep. Richard Armey, R-Texas, would institute a flat income tax rate, effectively eliminating all itemized deductions—including the mortgage interest deduction.

"More than 24 million American families each year would be affected by elimination of the mortgage interest deduction, and first-time buyers would be hit more severely than owners of expensive homes," said Thomas Cavalier, President of the Lake County Association of REALTORS. "Limiting the mortgage interest deduction would be one more step toward eliminating America's incentive for home ownership."

According to the National Association of REALTORS, research shows that elimination of the mortgage interest deduction will raise the cost of owning a home by as much as 33 percent. High-income families, with greater savings resources, will be able to handle the rising cost of home ownership, however, the budgets of many middle-class families could not handle such a dramatic rise in the single largest monthly expense they have. In addition, elimination of the deduction will have a devastating effect on the value by as much as 20 percent. "To first time buyers that means starting to climb up the housing ladder more than 20 percent in the hole," explains Cavalier.

"The budgets of many middle class families could not handle such a dramatic rise in the single largest monthly expense they have. Make no mistake—this is a middle class issue. Of the 24 million Americans who take the mortgage interest deduction, more than half have household incomes of less than $50,000 and nearly 80 percent is returned to itemizers with incomes of less than $75,000. These are families that will be severely affected by eliminating the mortgage interest deduction," said Cavalier.

"Removing the mortgage interest deduction would mean a substantial tax increase for our nation's home owners," explains Cavalier. The mortgage interest deduction is as old as the income tax itself. "When the Constitution was amended in 1913 to introduce an income tax, Congress affirmed America's commitment to home ownership by creating the mortgage interest deduction. Proposals to eliminate the deduction would shatter the contract that commits Congress to helping average people pursue the American dream."

Restricting mortgage interest deductibility is being proposed as a way to "pay for" a proposed cut in the capital gains tax rate, Cavalier notes. The Lake County Association of REALTORS strongly favors reducing the capital gains tax rate. However, the Lake County Association of REALTORS does not believe that tampering with mortgage interest deductibility is a valid way to recoup any revenue lost through a capital gains tax. "From an economic standpoint, cutting the mortgage interest deduction would completely negate lowering the capital gains tax rate. It makes more fiscal sense to retain the mortgage interest deduction in its current form and lower the capital gains tax rate," Cavalier says.

Cavalier maintains that tax laws that encourage residential and commercial investment benefit the entire economy.

Brunswick honored by historical society

The Illinois State Historical Society has unveiled and dedicated a historical marker at the 623 S. Wabash Building to celebrate the 150th anniversary of Brunswick Corporation, the oldest continuously independent public company in Illinois and Chicago.

John Brunswick

This event marks a series of "firsts" for the Illinois State Historical Society and Brunswick. Last Fall, the Historical Society named Brunswick the first recipient of its Sesquicentennial Business Award. Today, the Brunswick marker represents the first installation of the Historical Society's Chicago Marker Program, recognizing institutions of historical significance in the metropolitan Chicago area.

The marker is located at the entrance of the 623 S. Wabash Building, now owned by Columbia College. The building, which is 100 years old this year, was known as the Brunswick Building for more than a half-century from 1913 to 1964.

According to Illinois State Historical Society President Michael J. McNerney, the Historical Society is proud to be a partner with the Brunswick Corporation, as it celebrates its 150th birthday. "Brunswick's longevity and commitment to the recreation and leisure industry and to their employees worldwide is a crowning achievement in American business history. Few firms can claim such accomplishment. It is a milestone to be honored and celebrated." said McNerney.

The unveiling of the historical marker also represents the beginning of the company's summer anniversary season. On July 7, the Historical Society will celebrate the opening of the Brunswick Exhibition at the Chicago Cultural Center. The Exhibition includes 5,000 square feet of rare artifacts, photos, audio-visual presentations, and demonstrations.

Today, Brunswick Corporation is a multi-national company and is the world's largest marine manufacturer and a leader in recreation and leisure products.

Large law firm opens

Lake County residents will now have local access to one of the country's largest family and matrimonial law firms.

Kalcheim, Schatz & Berger, a Chicago law firm specializing in family and matrimonial law since 1982, has opened an office in Lake Forest tot better serve its north suburban clients. "A substantial portion of our practice is now from suburban clients," said partner Michael Berger of Highland Park. "We chose Lake Forest because it offers great transportation access. Someone from our office is in the Lake County Courthouse almost every day, and four of our seven partners in Lake County."

Operating from 920 S. Waukegan Rd., Lake Forest, in addition to its headquarters at 161 N. Clark, Chicago, Kalchein, Schatz & Berger, with 12 attorneys, is recognized by the Martindale-Hubbel Law Directory for its preeminent team of attorneys. Every firm attorney has published or lectured in matters of family law. Other than divorce, family law includes matters of estate, valuation, tax, custody and paternity. "We provide our clients with solid representation and a sophistication of practice not otherwise seen in the past," said partner Michael Cohen, who lives in Riverwoods.

Barry Schatz, managing partner and former chairman of the Illinois State Bar Assn.'s Family Law Section Council, plans to establish the firm as part of the Lake County community. "We will get involved in the local community like we currently do in Chicago," said Schatz.

Kalcheim, Schatz & Berger attorneys Michael Kalcheim of Lake Forest, Berger and Cohen are scheduled to keep office hours in Lake Forest and can be reached at 295-0550.

Shops raise $1M for Condell

Since 1972, The Blue Smock Shop antique and resale store at 111 Church St. in Libertyville has been selling paintings, household goods and memorabilia to local residents. Ten years later, The Blue Smock in Round Lake Beach opened its doors at 962 E. Rollins Rd. Together, these stylish "hand-me-down" emporiums have contributed over $1 million toward the improvements of medical services at Condell Medical Center.

"We have one of the first hospital thrift shops to open in Illinois," says Jan Matthews, The Blue Smock manager. "There are now 32 shops operated by hospitals in the state, and Condell has two of them.

For additional information call 362-7888 in Libertyville, or 223-3066 in Round Lake Beach.

Investment Trends

Noah A. Seldenberg,
Investment Representative of Edward D. Jones & Co.

Stock market creates own history

As Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "We are always getting ready to live but never living."

By the same token, some people are always getting ready to invest but never investing. Their reasons are endless: "When interest rates reach 10 percent..." "After the stock market hits 4000..." "When the Democrats regain control of Congress..."

A number of years ago, when the Dow Jones Industrial Average (Dow) bounced between 500 and 1000, a client tried to pick the right time to make a sizable investment. When the Dow dropped below 800, he was convinced the market was ready for a major turnaround but "it had a little more to go." Shortly after that, the Dow began a steady climb for one of the longest bull markets in history. But the man kept putting off making the investment, always finding some reason why it wasn't the right time.

Every day of every year, there is some element of economic or political uncertainty. Despite this fact, the Dow has achieved long-term success through all kinds of world-shocking events: Listed are news events with the change in the Dow one year later:

Soviets launch Sputnik 10/4/57
Dow changed +15.60%
Kennedy assassination 11/22/63
Dow changed +24.99%
U.S. begins Gulf War 1/17/91
Dow changed +30.47%

To further illustrate, here's a hypothetical economic and political forecast for the next 10 years. Would you invest after considering these predictions?

1. 12 percent inflation
2. 13 percent interest rates on the 30-year Treasury bond
3. An assassination attempt on the president
4. A series of major Wall Street scandals
5. A stock market crash of 1929 proportions
6. The disintegration of a major world nuclear power

The fact is, all these events occurred in the 1980s. And during this period, the stock market continued to grow. In fact, according to Ibbotson Associates, the Standard & Poor's Index of 500 stocks achieved average annual returns of more than 32 percent during 1980, 1985 and 1989.

Despite history, there is always the fear that the future will be different. For the short-term trader, any market could prove a disaster. For long-term investors, however, down markets are not catastrophes. Rather, market declines are often golden opportunities to buy good-quality investments at value prices.

Regardless of market conditions or the latest headlines, a good day to invest is any day you have the money. Over time, the market has traditionally increased due to companies increasing their earnings and dividends. Depending on how you look at it, the market has probably been increasing all your life.

Saturn of Libertyville raises more than $4,000 for MDA

Representatives from Saturn of Libertyville were deputized by the Muscular Dystrophy Assn. to "Lock Up" some of the area's most notorious citizens—for good! "Jailbirds" were "arrested" at their various workplaces and escorted to the MDA jail located in the Saturn showroom at 1160 S. Milwaukee Ave., where they were then sentenced by a judge to serve their time making phone calls to friends, family, and co-workers to get help raising their bail. Bail was set at $400, but many prisoners exceeded that figure.

Betty Zwierzynski of Saturn of Libertyville was the most model prisoner, by raising well over $1,000 for MDA. Followed by Kathy Sabin of BC Dog Training who raised well over $600.

During their incarceration they were served bread and water—actually the Hidden Cove of Libertyville, donated a lunch of chicken, potatoes, salad and rolls. Coffee, bagels and soft drinks were provided by the Saturn dealership Those who went behind bars for good were:

Kathy Sabin of BC Dog Training, Scott Andrews of Scott's Mobile Car Wash Inc., Todd Lewis of Jerry's Automotive Service, Jerry Brunette of Designation, Mumtaz Shan of Car X, Kristy Nelson of FSR Auto Collision Repair, John Marsh of Cityside, George Shepherd of Jakes Pizza, and Betty Zwierzynski of Saturn of Libertyville.

MDA would also like to thank John F. Bank of Mobile Cellutions for the extra phones. The funds raised at this even remain in the area to provide free comprehensive care for more than 475 local families that MDA serves. MDA also provides a children's summer camp program and funding for worldwide research efforts to find the treatment and cures for neuromuscular diseases.

Links nearly sold out

WADSWORTH—In less than a year since the opening of The Links at Midlane, Midlane Development, L.P. of Libertyville, the developer of the 182-acre resort community has sold 94 percent of the home-sites, either to builders or to individual custom home buyers. Midlane Development, L.P. is a joint venture partnership between Tom Rosenquist of Lake County Grading Co. and a Chicago Investor Group headed by Cary Glenner. Rosenquist and Glenner are also the owners of Midlane Country Club, located at 14565 Yorkhouse Rd., Wadsworth, on which the new master-planned residential community is centered. Currently there are three Chicagoland builders constructing entire neighborhoods within the community, and of the 53 custom home-sites which are selling directly, 50 percent are sold either to custom builders or individual buyers who wish to construct a residence in the community.

Technological advances in real estate

Technology continues to quantum leap to new levels and has changed the way we have done business in our real estate industry.

Get ready for the Realtors Information Network. According to an article in the June issue of Realtor News, "RIN" is an information network owned by the national Assn. of Realtors that provides data and computer services for the real estate agent in much the same way that we obtain information from consumer on-line networks, like Prodigy, American Online and Compuserve.

In an effort to achieve a higher level of value added service for the consumer, the "NAR" is implementing a nationwide network to provide information and services through computer technology.

With "RIN" as an information provider, the real estate agent can access Multiple Listing Service information from other regions in the country and combine this information with other software programs to provide several services.

The proposed services of "RIN" are actually two networks, one for the real estate practitioner and one that will connect with the consumer on-line services. You, as the consumer, will then be able to contact a real estate professional through electronic mail (E-Mail).

How does this help the home-buyer? Here's a good example: As a buyer, you can send an electronic message to an agent living over 1,200 miles away. You have been "scanning" the list of properties that this agent has "advertised" on the "public access" connection and are interested in a particular property, and ask for additional information. The agent can now implement "RIN" to fax back the requested information, including local information on schools and mapping services.

This network, although primarily designed to assist the agent, will offer value added information systems to aid reaching the consumer as well as offering vendor information exchanges as well. Translated, this means as a home buyer or seller, the system can offer "one-stop" shopping for data on buying in a different area, selling information on choosing an agent through a personal profiles, mortgage information and other services pertinent to real estate.

The bottom line is simple, the consumer is expecting an ever increasing degree of consultancy from all phases of the profession. By offering "integrated services" the network will have great value in condensing the time presently needed for transactions, as many of the "paperwork" systems will now be computerized for greater speed and accuracy.

Ride in and rope the excitement at Wauconda Rodeo

There's nothing like the thrill of a rodeo. Among the events spectators will enjoy at the Wauconda Rodeo are steer wrestling, bull riding and bareback bronc riding.

Steer wrestling

Steer wrestling is probably the most exciting event in the rodeo arena. When a man drops from a galloping horse onto the steer, stops the steer and throws him to the ground, spectators have seen skill overcome heavily weighted odds.

Here's the secret: As the cowboy catches up to the steer he reaches with his right hand, grabs the right horn and as his horse speeds by the steer, the cowboy gets the horn in the crook of his right elbow. At the same time, his left hand pushes down on the other horn while his horse veers off to the left. The cowboy's heels drop ahead and at a 45 degree angle to the path the steer is taking. The cowboy digs in his heels, twists the steer's head and pulls it toward the center of a left-hand turn. As the steer stops, his rear having swung around, the cowboy grabs the animal's nose with his left hand and, with this sensitive hold, throws the steer onto his side.

Bull riding

The most popular rodeo riding event, and the most dangerous, is bull riding. Many of the big cross-bred Brahmas go a whole season without being ridden the required eight seconds.

Because they will charge their upended rider, only the clown can help him. Men on horses are useless—the bull will charge them and the horses spook. The clown's courage and anticipation of what the bull will do are the reasons that bull riders can eat supper that night.

A bull rider uses a rope which is looped like a noose around the animal's middle. It is a flat plait with a hand-hold like the snug handle of a duffle bag. The rider puts his gloved hand in this loop, knuckles down, and a friend, standing on the chute, pulls the slack out of the rope.

When the rope feels right to the rider, he takes the free end of the rope and lays it across his palm. Then he wraps it once behind his hand and lays it across the palm again. He clenches his fist and hunches his body close to his hand. Then, as soon as he feels the bull standing squarely, he nods and the gate swings open.

As long as the cowboy doesn't touch the bull with his free hand and still has his riding hand on some part of the rope at the end of the eight seconds, the judges will score his ride on how hard the bull bucked and how well the cowboy rode.

Bareback bronc riding

The eight-second bareback ride is confusing because sometimes a cowboy's wild spurring appears to be simply showing off while, in fact, the rhythm of a man's legs on his horse is all that keeps the rigging from being torn out of his hand.

The bareback rider throws his feet forward in time with the horse's jumps, and at the same time this motion keeps his seat close to the riding hand. He's well aware that once he slips away from the handhold he's on the launching pad. The further back he gets on a high-kicking horse the further out he is on the catapult.

Come out to the rodeo and corral some of the excitement—words just aren't enough!

Dr. Hartman opens new office with new approach

Dr. Robert J. Hartman opened the doors to his new solo practice, Hartman OBGYN after 17 years of practice at Westmoreland OBGYN in Lake Forest.

"In the changing field of medical care, I want to continue to provide my patients with the individual one on one care they deserve," Hartman explained. "In a solo practice, I can better preserve the doctor-patient bond which is rapidly disappearing from medicine today."

Dr. Hartman is a board certified obstetrician and gynecologist, specializing in well-woman care, laparoscopic and laser surgery, gynecologic surgery, as well as routine and high-risk obstetrics. He will continue his affiliation with all insurance carriers he had prior to opening his new practice.

Before joining the staff of Lake Forest Hospital in 1978, Hartman attended the Univ. of Illinois Medical School. Following graduation he was chosen to continue his training in OBGYN as one of six major emphasis obstetrical interns nationwide in the U.S. Navy At Naval Regional Medical Center, Portsmouth, Virg., Hartman was chosen "Intern of the Year." He went on to complete his residency training at the same institution before returning home to Illinois to serve as attending physician at Great Lakes Naval Hospital. Following his years in the service, Dr. Hartman joined Westmoreland OBGYN, where he has continued to practice until the present.

Since being in Lake Forest, Dr. Hartman has continued to remain current in medical technology. He was one of the first to bring a new technique called colposcopy (microscopic examination of the cervix) to Lake Forest. He has done post graduate training in microsurgery, laser surgery, hysteroscopy, infertility evaluation and surgery. He was recently credentialed to conduct cystoscopic procedures, the only gynecologist at Lake Forest to have privileges.

Dr. Hartman has been active in other areas. He was one of the original members of the Hospital's ethics committee, and continues to serve on that committee at the present time. Active in church and school work, Dr. Hartman served many years on the school board at St. Mary's in Lake Forest, three of those years as president. He has spoken to numerous classes of grade and high school students on health related topics. He and his wife, Margaret, are the parents of 10 children.

Hartman OBGYN is located at 800 Westmoreland Rd., Suite 200, in Lake Forest. For day, evening, or Saturday appointments, call 615-2229 or 615-BABY.

Women and the effects of alcohol

While hard numbers are hard to come by, most experts call the increase in alcohol consumption by women alarming. They estimate that about 60 percent of the women who do drink are problem drinkers. There's no consistent portrait of a female problem drinker. Some drink only wine; some limit their consumption to weekends; others have a daily cocktail. Alcoholism is not determined by what you drink, how you drink, or when you drink. Rather, it is determined by how all-important is to you, and how it is affecting your life.

Consider Jane, who began drinking when she was in high school. In college, the friends that she made usually gathered at the bar. She said it made her feel popular and attractive, having always secretly held the belief that she was neither. After college, Jane became a successful businesswoman; now she has no time for bars, but she still secretly drinks. Despite her accomplishments, she feels inadequate. After work she unwinds with a liquid dinner. Drinking helps her forget her loneliness, helps her numb her sadness.

There are two levels to women's alcohol problems; a distinction should be made between alcohol abuse and alcohol dependence. The latter is more severe. The alcohol dependent, like Jane, has to drink more to get the same effect and experiences withdrawal symptoms if she stops drinking.

Some experts believe that alcoholism is the result of biological, psychological and social factors. While researchers have not yet discovered an alcoholism gene, studies demonstrate that a family history of alcoholism may predispose women to addiction. Cultural influences are a factor as well. Women are targeted by advertisers, who equate drinking with images of elegance, power and influence. Social drinking has become almost a required recreation. Alcohol has even sidestepped the health craze. Women rationalize the high caloric content of beer and wine with the fact that it is fat-free.

Psychologically, women drink for a number of reasons. Emotions like anger, anxiety, sadness and guilt can be chemically numbed. Alcohol can help manage domestic stress, be a reward after a hard day at the office, or reduce sexual inhibitions. When women drink, they often feel confident and relaxed. Things just seem better—temporarily.

However, the abuse of alcohol creates more problems than it cures. Depression, low self-esteem, irritability, shallow relationships and isolation are byproducts of drinking. Worse, these symptoms are all part of a vicious psychological circle: In many cases, they are the same issues that led women to drink in the first place. The alcohol offers only a superficial comfort and masks a worsening of the problem. In time, this can lead to a psychological and physical addiction.

Alcohol's physical effects are severe as well. Overall, it is the third leading cause of death for men and women, after heart disease and cancer. Alcoholics have a life expectancy 12 years shorter than that of the average person. While it is well known that people who drink develop liver problems, heavy drinkers also risk gastritis, ulcers and pancreatitis. Women can also develop osteoporosis, because alcohol blocks the absorption of calcium. Also, alcohol disrupts menstrual cycles and ovulation, and hormone output decreases. The children born to alcoholic women can display growth deformities and mental retardation. Women who abuse alcohol often have other addictions as well—to nicotine and caffeine, and even prescription drugs. Sedatives and alcohol combined can cause death.

Because drinking is so rampant in our society, its negative implications are often minimized, especially for women. The problem drinker must face her addiction.

Editor's note: Linda Millon, Psy.D., a licensed clinical psychologist, developed the women's program at Condell Medical Center. She is the clinical director of The Women's Circle of Health, which is part of Neuropsych, a group practice in Libertyville. The Circle can be reached at 367-1029.

Something blue for engagement rings

Although colored stone engagement and wedding rings are unusual today, ruby, sapphire and emerald have been treasured for thousands of years, longer than any other gemstones.

Women all over the world who are looking for something unique are choosing colored gemstone rings instead of the conventional diamond solitaires. A colored gemstone makes a classic ring style unique. Gemstones are among the most individual of nature's creations: Perfect crystals in every color of the rainbow with no two alike.

Gemstone wedding rings are often the choice for couples who marry later and have more sophisticated tastes. Women are more often the ones who decide that they want something different.

The wide selection of gemstones available makes it possible for every bride to find something that suites her taste and budget. Colored gemstones are also now adding interest to men's wedding bands, particularly blue sapphires and black onyx. Many couples choose a matching color for the two rings.

Because of the wide variety available, choosing a colored gemstone is more difficult than picking out a conventional diamond solitaire. The International Colored Gemstone Assn. offers some tips for selecting the right gemstone for you.

First, choose a gemstone variety from the dozens available: Find a store that can show you a wide selection. The most popular choices for gemstone engagement and wedding rings are sapphire, ruby and emerald, which are the most well known colored gemstones. Other, more exotic gemstones are also beautiful and rare and can be surprisingly affordable. Consider gems like spinel, garnet, tourmaline and aquamarine.

Within each variety, quality dramatically affects price. A ruby can sell for $10 to $1 million. In fact, fine rubies are the most valuable gemstone, selling for more per carat than the largest white diamond.

Buy the best quality gemstone you can afford. In general, smaller gemstones of higher quality appreciate more over time than large stones of lower quality. Quality and value are evaluated according to the "Four Cs"—color, clarity, cut and carat weight.

Within each gemstone variety, a clear, medium toned, very intense and saturated primary color is usually the most preferred. The next most important factor affecting value is clarity, with clear transparent gemstones having no visible flaws being the most valued.

A good cut is something than may not cost more, but can add or subtract a lot of beauty. A well-cut faceted gemstone reflects light back evenly across its surface area when held face up. If the stone is too deep and narrow, areas will be dark. If it is too shallow and wide, parts of the stone will be washed out and lifeless. The carat weight also affects the price: Large gemstones are more rare, so the price per caret is higher.

In general, gemstone pricing within each variety follows common sense: The more beautiful the gemstone, with the final visual effect of all the quality factors, the more valuable it is. Don't be afraid to choose what looks best for you!

Why so close?

Can someone please explain why certain trustees on the village board in Wauconda are allowed to have their homes so close to the lake, yet no one else can? Tell me, Bruce and Liza, do you really believe in the saying, "I have mine, so up yours"?

Do the right thing

What kind of idiots sit on the village board of Wauconda? When do trustees make their own ordinances with no open discussion between its own members or input from village residents. Bruce and Liza, please stop letting Beth and Leroy Hample make decisions for you that affect the people that elected you to the positions you hold.

Don't be bully

This is for the huge man who left the dog in the car at Walgreens in Antioch when the temperature was 100-degrees. Bravo to the woman who tried to tell him his dog was too hot. I wanted to stand up for her when he verbally assaulted her following her around the store, but I was afraid of you and, like everyone else, stayed quiet. You're lucky your dog survived and that she didn't press charges against you. I would've if I had the backbone - and your size.

Teachers to blame

To 'We're all suffering'. Boy, are you wrong. I want you to know that the school board offered the teachers binding arbitration and a 3, 4, or 5 percent raise before they went on strike. No, they wanted to go on strike. It's not Mary Davis, it's the teachers. They're the ones that wanted the strike and stayed out for eight weeks, so they're the ones that will suffer along with our kids.

Don't return dog

As a pet owner, I was appalled to read the June 23 article on the mistreated puppy. The only thing worse than the horrendous treatment the dog suffered would be to return it to that sicko. It would be kinder to put it to sleep! I can't imagine the kind of depraved mind that would subject an animal to that kind of treatment.

Backward politics

While Crawford and Company rules, the city burns. Welcome to the dysfunctional city of Lake Zurich! Where the mayor is powerless and the majority of two trustees can make decisions on their own. Wake up, people of Lake Zurich, get involved before it's too late. Attend board meetings and write letters to the trustees. We don't approve of their power trip behavior. They haven't accomplished anything since taking office. If Crawford wanted to be mayor, he should've beat the mayor heads up rather than use his form of backward politics, Lake Zurich style.

Needs help

This is in response to 'Get in touch' in the June 23, 1995 issue. I think the only thing he needs to get in touch with is a counselor or psychiatrist, because if he enjoys dressing up in women's clothes, he needs help!

Cedar speedway

A short time ago, Round Lake Beach Mayor Ralph Davis was patting himself of the back for the completion of Cedar Lake Rd., stating what an improvement for the safety of anyone walking on it. Obviously, he has not tried to maneuver across it during peak traffic times. I drive the posted 30 mile per hour speed limit and I'm continually passed like I'm sitting still. I've also tried to cross the road during peak traffic times and they just about run over you. Rarely do you see the police on the road except during peak traffic times after work. Even then, the police are parked outside bars waiting for people to leave, not patrolling Cedar Lake Road, as they should be. Also, the businesses along the road are hurting because it is hard to get into them with all the speeding traffic. Cedar Lake Road appears to be the new speedway of the Round Lake area and you're taking your life into your own hands to travel on it because the mayor doesn't seem to be concerned.

Weed or Lilly Pad?

I'm calling about the article in the June 23 Wauconda Leader about the weeds. The foolish jerks that cut the weeds on the lake have been ripping them out. They don't know the difference between a weed and a lilly pad. Teach them what the difference is!

Don't allow it

I'm calling from Grayslake and I've got the June 23 article about the abused puppy they recovered from Country Faire apartments in Grayslake. I'm appalled that the owner may get the puppy back. I'm hoping the citizens and the judge of Grayslake do not allow this to happen.

Please help dog

I'm very upset. I read the article about the abused dog. I'm glad he's out of that terrible place. I can't believe they might give the dog back to that person. Please make sure the dog doesn't go back to those people.

Great guys

My name is Don and I'm from Fox Lake. I'd like to take a moment to thank Brian and Dan from the cable show on the access channel. I recently lost my brother-in-law, who was very close to me. They took the time to dedicate their show to him and read a letter from me live on the air. I just want to let them know they're a great bunch of guys and that I appreciate it.

Don't blame Davis

I'm sick and tired of everyone in Round Lake blaming Mary Davis for school being held over until July. This was an agreement made by the union insisting that they get every day in. How many people out there work for the union and never lose a dime? Why don't you check where Mary Davis will be on July 6 and 7 and where Mr. and Mrs. Kearby will be? Davis will be working and the Kearbys will be on vacation!

Veteran golfers

Some veterans should get off their bar stools and stop crying in their beer. The Lake County Forest Preserve is taking over the operation of the Fort Sheridan Golf Course for the good of all citizens, not just the rich. Meanwhile, the Veteran Affairs Hospital in North Chicago offers an excellent golf course. My veteran husband enjoys golfing more at the VA course than Renwood Country Club. Veterans come from all economic classes.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I started working for a corporation seven weeks ago as an administrative assistant. As a single parent, a stable job is important to me. I have developed many friendships in such a short period of time that it makes me feel very at ease. I thought that I was pretty close with my immediate supervisor until yesterday. Thursday evening I went out with friends to see a concert about 60 miles away where we were involved in an accident. The accident was not too serious; however, it required me to be transported by ambulance and to stay overnight in the hospital to be observed. Friday when I got home, which was about 3:30, I had a message that I was to call my supervisor. I did at which time I received the third degree about why I didn't come in to work and why I didn't call. You would think that they would be a bit more sympathetic to my needs. Fortunately I was not injured more than bumps and bruises, but my boss acted as though she could care less. My boss told me how irresponsible it was to worry everyone. Not to call or show up to work she said was grounds for termination, unless I could produce a receipt from the hospital for which I spent the night. Well, I did not receive anything from the hospital, they checked me out and released me. I explained this to my boss who immediately said that unless you can provide proof from the hospital that supposedly treated me, don't come back. What right does a company have to demand medical reports? I think it's a crock!! Do you think I have any recourse? I don't want to lose my job and certainly as a single parent...cannot afford to. Please help. G.P. - Zion.

A: Dear G.P. Get a grip! Do you honestly think you are the injured party here? The fact that you did not call in sick for work and did not show up for work was not only irresponsible, but yes...grounds for termination in most companies. You let down your fellow co-workers, but more importantly, left people you say you have become close with worried sick about your whereabouts. The fact that you were taken to a hospital after the accident, yet can provide no record of such medical attention would leave one to believe that perhaps you were involved in something other than an accident. You didn't even offer to try to get proof. Chalk it up to being irresponsible and move on with your life. This situation is clear case of job abandonment. You don't show up for work and you don't call in sick and you don't have a doctor's excuse. If filing for unemployment compensation was on your mind...think again. Keep in mind also that people are not stupid! Show me a hospital that transports you by ambulance...treats you during an overnight emergency stay....and gives you no proof as to treatment...and I'll show you, well, I think you got the idea.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031.

PET OF THE WEEK

Red Alert For Cat Lovers

A seasonal tragedy of immense proportions has once again come to call at Orphans of the Storm. Lost, stray, abandoned ADULT cats in huge numbers have arrived at the shelter, seriously compromising the shelter's ability to house, feed and care for them in our cherished no-kill tradition.

Indoor only, loving homes are urgently needed NOW, for some of the sweetest, neediest, loneliest and most attractive cats you've ever seen. If you have room enough and love enough to give one or two of our feline residents the home they need and deserve, PLEASE ACT NOW. When you adopt a pet, you save a life! Celebrate summer by saving a life, that will in turn add countless joy to your own.

Long hairs, short hairs, solids, tabbies, patches, calicoes, rambunctious teenagers, playful young adults and content lap cats in the prime of their lives wait in our Cat Cottage for someone to love. Cats can't talk, but we see the hope in their eyes every day. Your adoption can make their dream come true.

Pet Parade

Five tips to remember when buying a dog

Where should you get your family pet? A reputable breeder or the animal shelter? If you have the time, money and patience with a brand new puppy and you have a particular breed in mind, then by all means choose a breeder. If you're looking for a not-so-young dog and breed preference is iffy, then choose a shelter.

1. Choose a breeder from a Breeders Directory. Forget about Mr. and Mrs. Joe that have purebred puppies for sale twice a year and have been doing so for several years at their home.

2. Get a list of past buyers from the breeder dating back 10 years and call them. Find out how their dog is doing, has it had any medical problems and is it still alive.

3. Make sure that the parents of the puppies and the grandparents have passed obedience trials and if they hold titles in Schutzhund, Agility, Canine Good Citizen or Field. Remember, you're looking for a well developed and intelligent pet that has a good temperament as well.

4. Find out how the breeders handle the dogs. Are they outside or inside dogs? Are they caged or able to socialize with others?

5. Last but not least, what guarantee comes with the dog? If your pet develops hip or elbow dysplasia, what can or will the breeder do for you? (There should be a certificate from the OFA stating that the bone structure of the parents were fine). How about cataracts or luxation (dislocated lens), deafness or cancer? All of these avenues should be looked into before getting the puppy.—by KIMBERLEIGH GORHAM

How To Write A Bestseller.

Give the reader all the specifics.

Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as:
• color • size • condition
• brand name • age
• features • and benefits
Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts.

Include the price.

Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

Avoid Abbreviations.

Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in-kitchen) or WSW tires (white side wall) and won't take the time to figure them out.

Include phone number & hours.

Let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

Run consecutive weeks.

Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your sales representative. Run your ad for at least two weeks.

Classified Can!

The Lakeland Newspapers friendly classified advertising representatives are happy to assist you with your ad over the phone. They even assist you with writing your ad. Just call (708) 223-8161 to place your classified ad. Representatives will help you with your ad by phone Monday thru Thursday, 8 am to 8 pm and Saturdays 8:30 am to 2 pm. You can also place your ad in person at:

Gurnee Legion squad's hitting woes continue in tourney

Gurnee won the coin toss to determine home field and the raffle, but had little else to show for efforts at the Gordon July 4 tournament in Waukegan.

The team's slump continued as the Gurnee American Legion squad lost three games before Tuesday's tourney conclusion.

"We are not playing good baseball now. We have to get our heads together. We are not hitting the ball or playing well," Coach Rick Hill lamented.

Gurnee battled Kenosha tough before a 2-1 loss, and the same against Rolling Meadows in a 4-3 defeat. Waukegan had no trouble with Gurnee in an 11-2 victory. The Gurnee Post 771 team also fell to Norwood 4-2.

The team was technically unbeaten in District 10 play, gaining a forfeit win over Highland Park.

The only offense against Kenosha came in the form of a one-out, seventh inning home run by Cory Clark.

The Gurnee squad scored three runs in the second in a rare combination of strong pitching and home run hitting against Rolling Meadows.

Todd Eifert was hit by a pitch, Eric Bradley walked and Eric Eckenstahler blasted a homer, accounting for Gurnee's offense.

Steve Hartsburg proved to be Gurnee's undoing. His homer was the difference as the shortstop pegged Eckenstahler with his first loss.

"They have a nice club - they can really pound the ball," Hill said of Rolling Meadows.

"He has a three-fourth scholarship to Oklahoma State. He was drafted in the 14th round by the Tigers, but I am glad he did not go," Rolling Meadows Coah Tony Stompamato said.

Derrick Genther, a centerfielder, snared a Mike Cenni flyout, securing Rolling Meadows' 17th win and a spot in the title game against Waukegan.

The less said about the Waukegan game the better as this one was not for the young to learn about baseball.

The improving Waukegan squad pounded out 15 hits off two Gurnee pitchers. They made tough defensive chances look smooth.

"We did not hit the ball well to start the season, but we have a lot more confidence now at the plate," Coach Darrell Bellows said.

Waukegan improved to 9-13 at Gurnee's (8-0 Dist. 10, 15-7 all) expense.

Brian Malabat gained the win. He was supported by 2 hits from Mike Petrusky, the lead-off man and third baseman; a pair from Rob Jablonski; 2 singles and a walk from Joe Rojcevich; a walk and a single from shortstop Eric Vilhrael and 2 hits and a walk from Mitch Nilms. The bottom of the order produced a single and 2 runs from the winning pitcher, a homer and single and 2 runs from Jason Sermak and a pair of hits from Lemar Dillard.

Gurnee closed the gap to 2-1 early on an RBI single by Brandon Chesser. Clark singled and scored on a grounder for the other run.

Gurnee hopes to right the ship this week at a Springfield tourney. The team won three games there last year.

Demo Derby seeks drivers

Drivers are being sought to slug it out in the second Mini-Car Figure 8 Demolition Derby at the Lake County Fair.

Daredevils will master the curves of a track shaped in a figure 8. The race will show no-mercy— especially in the center of the figure 8 where competing cars will meet.

"To enter the event the car must be a 4-cylinder with a 104 inch wheel base or less," said George Sims, of Auto Race Promotions, Inc. The company has ran the Lake County event for the past 20 years. The edition of a concrete wall in the rodeo arena last year has made the compact car event possible.

Drivers must be 16 years or older to compete. Drivers under 18 must have a parental consent form signed at Pit Gate.

Sims says the mini-car figure 8 event promises to be loud and exciting.

The Mini-Car Figure 8 Demolition Derby will be held Wednesday, July 26. Car check-in begins at 2 p.m. Any running car can compete in the event.

Rules and entry blanks can be obtained from Mary Gunia at the Lake County Fair Office or by calling 223-2204.

Vernon Legion hosts Russian national team

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

On special tour from Russia, the Moscow Red Devils found themselves having to cross the Atlantic before they could find a baseball team of equal caliber.

What a better place than the country that invented the sport and considers baseball its national pastime.

Since the Iron Curtain has come down, baseball is slowly but surely gaining popularity in a country where soccer and ice hockey dominate. The Red Devils are the national team of Russia and are hoping to make the Olympic cut in 1996.

"Six years ago, I never knew what a baseball looked like," admitted Evgueni Poutchsov, a third baseman for the Red Devils who was drafted by the California Angels.

The Moscow Red Devils are the closest thing Russia has that can be considered a professional baseball team. At best, the Red Devils are a notch above American Legion teams, which feature high school stars bound to play college ball here in the states.

The Red Devils, however, were able to shutout the potent lineup of the Vernon Legion squad as Moscow was able to hold onto the 1-0 victory behind the pitching of Renat Machmutov.

"His slider was pretty nasty," said an impressed Vernon Coach D.J. McCullough. "He was the best pitcher we've seen all year by far."

Keeping Vernon batters off balance throughout the game with a slider, changeup and respectable fastball, Machmutov only gave up two hits in seven innings. One of the hits was a scratch infield hit in the third inning.

"Look at all the groundball outs we had. He was mixing up his pitches better than we've seen this year," McCullough said. For the record, Machmutov was able to force 11 groundball outs to go along with 5 strikeouts. Only three balls were lifted into the air.

It seemed the only difficulty Machmutov had was his English, but an ice pack on his arm after the game said it all.

Moscow scored the only run of the game during their first at-bats. Four consecutive singles to the opposite field forced in Illia Bogatirev for the game's sole run. Vernon left fielder Rob Piggot gunned down a Moscow runner at third base to prevent further damage.

'Six years ago, I never knew what a baseball looked like.'

Vernon starter Jeff Grund settled down after the first inning and scattered five hits during the remainder of the game.

"Jeff Grund pitched a helluva game, and Dan Allen (catcher) called a great game," said McCullough, who advised Grund to pitch on the inside of the plate to force the opposite-field hits. "Once he started pitching on the inside, they didn't hit."

Vernon just didn't hit. Brad Goldstein and Matt Beall were credited with Vernon's only two hits.

As for the Moscow Red Devils, they have since returned to Russia, but Poutchsov insists Russia will be fielding better teams within the next 10 years. American coaches have begun holding baseball clinics there to stir more interest, and some areas of the country have begun Little Leagues.

"Baseball is growing. We're working on it," Poutchsov said. "Kids like it back in Russia, and many kids play. I think maybe in 10 years the Russia team will be better."

Leiber enjoys a big day with bat as Indians split

After finishing his shift at the Gurnee Fire Department, Al Leiber ignited the Gurnee Indians.

Leiber's long double on a 3-2 count was the game winner in a 4-2 marathon over Kenosha Kings. The contest lasted 9 innings before Leiber smacked the hit which hit the right-field wall at Kenosha's Simmons Field.

"He was throwing curveballs the whole at-bat, so I was just waiting for one," Leiber said. "If I get what I am looking for, I usually hit it hard," Leiber stated.

Leiber continued his hot hitting in the nightcap. He crushed a pitch for a homer for a 4-4 tie, and had a double and a single. But 10 straight Kenosha runs made Gurnee settle for a split in a 14-4, six-inning loss. The game was stopped an inning early due to the 10-run rule.

Leiber was playing in only his second game when he pinch-hit with Eric Blaha on second after an error and a stolen base and Andy Strahan on first following a walk.

"He showed up at the right time," Gurnee co-Manager Chris Stranowicz said.

The split left Gurnee with a 4-2 Shoreline League record, 6-3 overall. Gurnee is at Rolling Meadows July 9.

"We did not play as well in the second game, but Craig Chevitoro (losing pitcher) needs some time on the mound," co-manager Bill Stranowicz said.

The first game was an intense one. Dave Farrow, a Warren High graduate, was the winning pitcher. He went the distance for his first win, allowing five hits.

"He got stronger as the game went on," Chris Stranowicz said.

Kenosha struck first in the opening inning as a walk later scored. A solo homer gave the Kings a 2-0 lead in the second.

The Indians scored in the fifth. Chevitoro walked, moved to second on an out and scored on two passed balls by the Kenosha catcher.

Gurnee had a excellent chance to tie the game in the sixth but a non-balk call almost gave the chance away. Bill Stranowicz was thrown out at third base after it appeared the Kenosha pitcher balked, but the umpire failed to make the call.

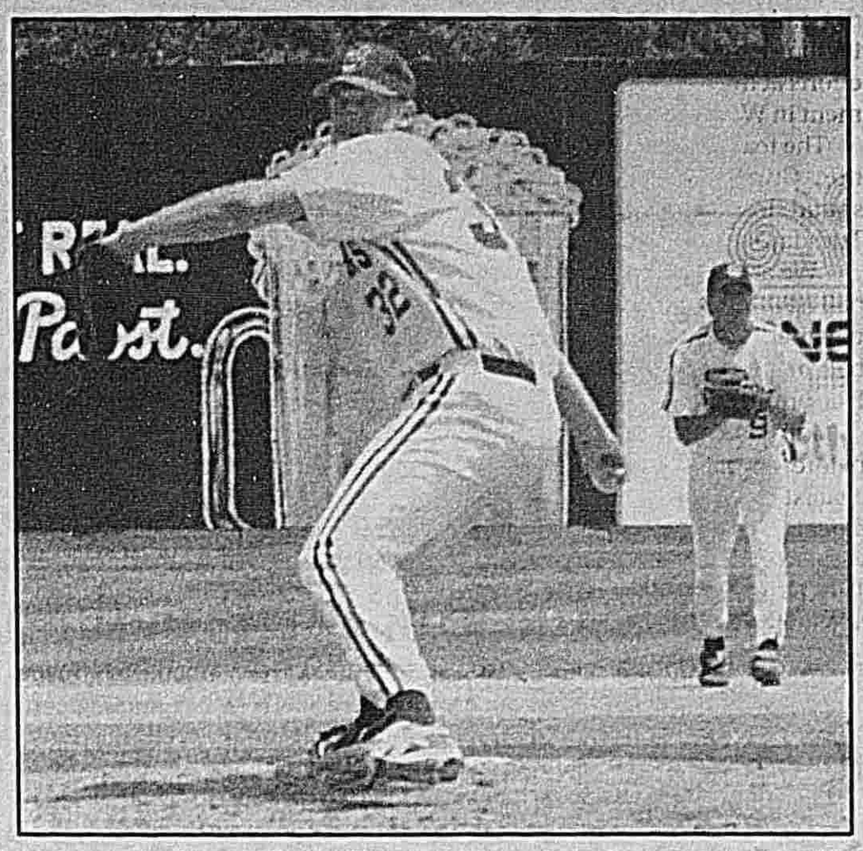

Inspired, Gurnee rallied the next inning.

Farrow singled with one out and Chris Stranowicz drew a two-out walk. Rodney Williams then came through with the game-tying single.

Williams' defense helped end the game in the seventh. He had to dive far for a grounder and a force play.

The second game was all Kenosha as the Kings improved to 5-3, 11-7. Ten runs over the fifth and sixth innings took out frustrations of game one.

Baseball notebook: Gurnee split a two-game series against Zion Dill Brothers, losing the second game 4-3 Thursday. Six errors did the Indians in.

Gurnee Indians pitcher Dave Farrow fires home in Shoreline League action. Farrow pitched for 10 innings as Gurnee downed Kenosha, 4-2. Gurnee is at Rolling Meadows July 9.

RL Colts dominate in loop

Round Lake Colts dominated two Mike's Memorial League games before heading west. The Colts downed Gurnee II 6-1 and Lake Villa II 10-5.

Sean Eaton raised his record to 8-1 as he gained the win over Gurnee II. He had 9 strikeouts and surrendered just 3 hits. Offensively, he had 2-of-3 with 2 doubles.

Matt Vasey clubbed a 2-run homer over the fence and had a double. John Collins extended his hitting streak to eight with a fourth inning single. Nate Brewer improved to 6-1 as he gained the win vs. Lake Villa II at Grant High.

Successful Run for Freedom

In the dawn's early light on July 1, 306 fit runners and enthusiastic walkers registered at the Antioch Cub Scout House and headed for the staring line for the First Annual 5K Run for Freedom sponsored by the State Bank of the Lake in Antioch.

Roger Manderscheid, bank executive vice president, spearheaded the races which was sanctioned by U.S. Track and Field/Illinois.

"It occurred to us that a sanctioned race would be a great start for the events planned by the village," said Randy Miles, bank president.

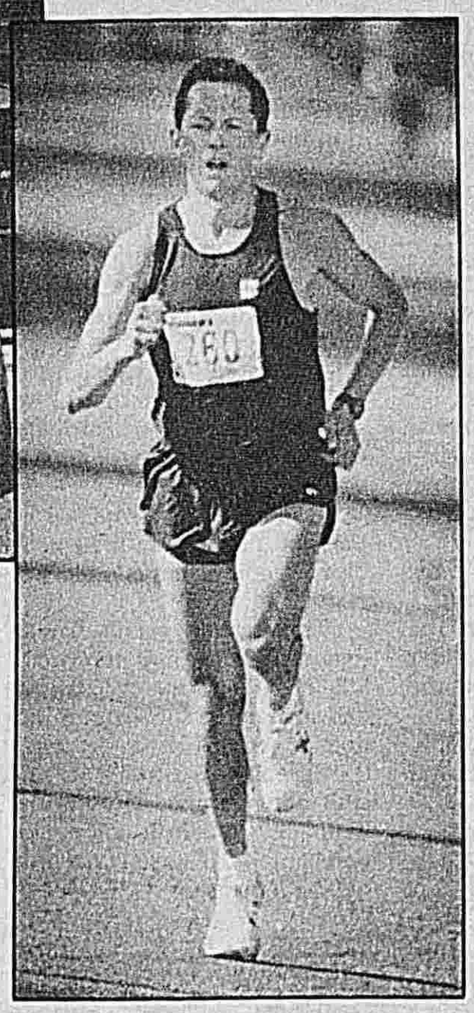

Rosemary Kilimnik and Nanci Ahlquist, bank race coordinators with the Fourth of July village committee, helped to provide bank personnel and community volunteers necessary for a successful sanctioned run.

Top winners for males were: Tomasz Gruabel, 28, of Grayslake, 15:50.5; Joe Legat, 28, Waukegan, 16:08.4; Jason Gantt, 17, of Grayslake, 16:26.8; William Martin, 42, of Antioch, 16:46.9 and Ed Edinger, 25, of Capron, 16:51.3.

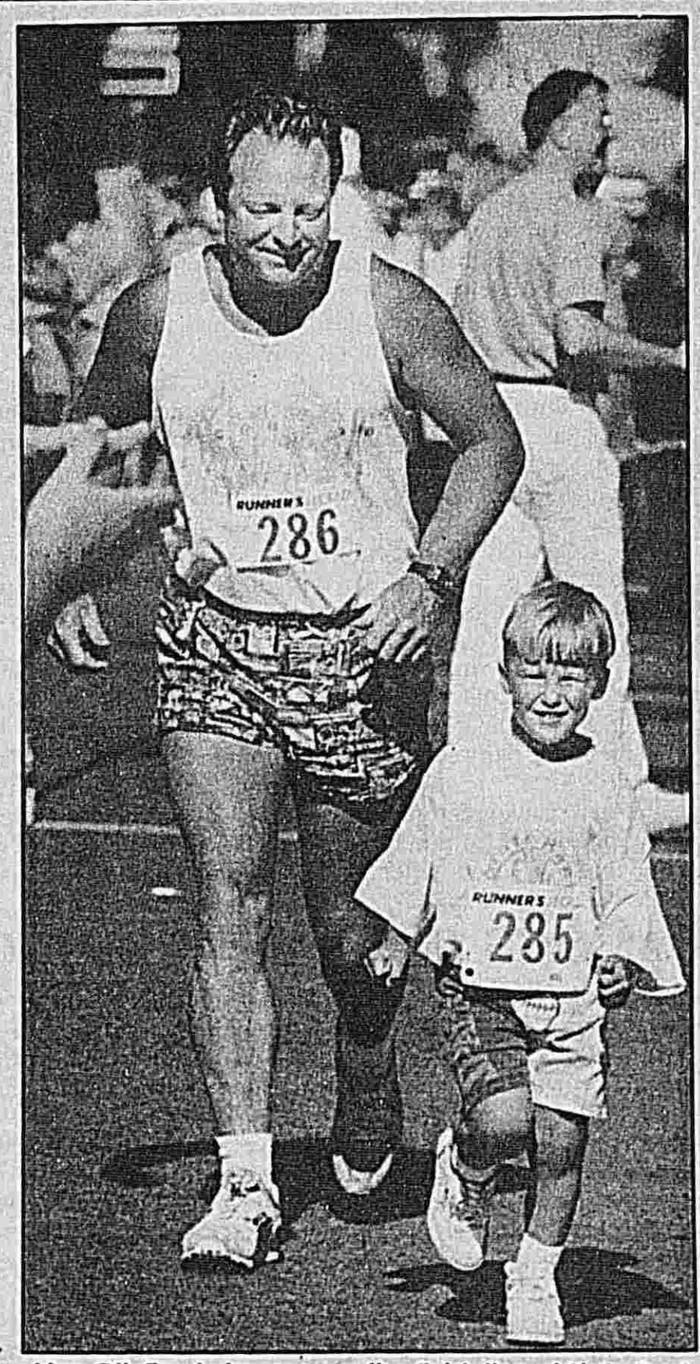

Top winners for females were: Eileen Chavez, 29, of Antioch, 19:21.7; Marcy Fitzgerald, 26 of Wichita, Kansas, 19:32.6; Camille Wilson, 16, Lake Forest, 20:34.1; Megan Darney, 16 of Antioch, 20:41.1 and Amelia Reinkehsmeyer, 28, Grayslake, 21:06.0.

Village Administrator Tim Wells said village police, public works personnel and fire and rescue personnel contributed greatly to the race's success as did a course which minimized inconvenience to citizens. — by Florence Babusek, A.V.P.— Marketing Director, State Bank of the Lakes

LV Colts paces team to down Gurnee II

Using the strength of pitcher Jake Harvela and some timely hitting Lake Villa Traveling Colts kept its winning streak alive.

The Mike's Memorial Colt league team increased its record to 5-9 overall and gained a third straight win in a 12-5 romp over Gurnee II.

Harvela surrendered 4 first-inning runs but then settled down for the next four frames before allowing a seventh-inning run. Gurnee II (7-6) got just two hits after the first inning.

"He just started to throw curveballs and kept them off balance. There was a lot of pop ups and groundouts," Lake Villa Colts Coach Tom Cromeans said.

Lead-off man Mike Moretti reached base 4 times and had 2 RBIs. "Mike sees the ball great and wen he gets on first, he usually gets second," Cromeans stated.

A 5-run second inning put the visiting squad ahead to stay.

All the damage was done on singles by Mike, Tony Moretti and a walk with the bases loaded by Mike Moretti.

Mike Moretti's RBI double in the next inning was a key hit.

Two more runs scored in the fourth. Erick Rubash singled, Jermiah Berzinski reached on an error and both runners moved up on a stolen base. Harvela helped his own cause with an RBI double for a 9-4 margin.

The next run scored when, after two singles and a ground out, a Gurnee error on a throw back to the pitcher scored a run.

Gurnee II Coach Rob Stone liked the game's start. Mark Truby scored on a nice slide at home following a walk and two wild pitches. Steve Fritz had an RBI double and Dan Strahan and Kevin Carrier had RBI singles.

"We came out all fired up, but then we went flat," Gurnee II Coach Stone said.

Lake Villa Travelers, which had downed Mundelein 9-8 and Waukegan III 16-14 in slugfests, had 12 hits.

The defense came through, throwing a runner out at third in the first inning and a right to second putout in the fourth.

"That was our best defense all year," Cromeans said.

Antioch Travelers bounce back for final stretch

After a tough loss to Lake Zurich, the Antioch Travelers A team bounced back to defeat Genoa City 3-2 in a defensive battle and then downed Wauconda 13-2 in a slugfest.

Against Genoa City, Ken Cichon and Ryan Clutts combined for a seven-inning, five-hitter. Luke Haley played a strong third base for Antioch, and the Travelers collected 9 hits in the 3-2 victory.

Hitting and solid defense by Antioch keyed the 13-2 win against Wauconda. Dan Shaunessey went the distance on the mound, and the southpaw gave up 4 hits in the win.

Thanks to a 3-run homer by Cichon and another dinger by Chris Gaulin, Antioch jumped out to a 6-0 lead after two innings. Gaulin had 3 hits, while Ryan and Brandon Clutts each had two hits.

In both victories, John Logan led the defensive play at second base for Antioch. He had 9 assists and 3 putouts.

Antioch Coach Steve Gaulin commented that Logan's play has been consistent all season.

"That's nothing unusual. He's been making the plays all year. We expect it," Gaulin said of Logan. "John's got a great glove and is like a vacuum cleaner at second base."

Gaulin maintains his optimism as his 11-5 club heads for the home stretch in traveling Pony League action.

"We have a winning record, and this team has shown its ability to bounce back after some tough losses, so we're headed in the right direction going into the meat of our schedule," Gaulin said.

Round Lake angler wins fishing tournament

The 16th annual Prate Fishing Tournament registered 62 boats and one man in waders for a total of 123 fishermen.

Only 13 out of 62 boats were able to weigh in eligible length fish, despite the fact that this was a "catch and release only" tournament.

While the new policy resulted in many frustrated anglers, the tournament successfully raised $2,300, which will be donated to the Bangs Lake fish restocking program and the Wauconda Park District's new fishing peer project.

The $750 first prize went to the team of Greg Finlayson from Round Lake and Joe Porkorny from Elgin. They had a total of 1,240 points and also captured the "Big Fish" pool with a 4 pound, 9 ounce bass. "Big Fish" earned them an additional $670.

The second place team of Frank Luppino from Niles and Tom Minasola from Chicago won $500 with a total of 500 points. Third place was won by Walter Pisarski from Streamwood and Mark Loehmer from Lake Zurich with 375 points. Their prize was $250.

The fourth place team was Mike Garcia from Palatine and Tony Armstrong from Wheeling with 350 points. They each won a rod and reel from Robinsons Bait in Genoa City and a $50 gift certificate from Mers Restaurant.

The fifth place team was Tim McGill and Bill Zunker from Wauconda with 245 points. They each won a gift certificate from Wauconda Car Wash, a rod and reel from Koppers and a net and reel from Chuck's Bait and Tackle. Tim McGill also won $200 for largest fish caught by a Prate employee, with a 3 pound, 1 ounce bass.

Sixth place was won by James Kus from Downers Grove and Dan Schmidt from Wheeling with 235 points. They each won a $25 gift certificate from Mike's Towing and Auto Repair plus gift certificates to Wauconda Car Wash.

Seventh place was won by Mike Lincoln and Paula Solomini from Wauconda with 230 points. They received a $25 gift certificate to O'Trainas Restaurant and a $25 gift certificate from Sweeney's Foodworks.

Eighth place was won by Gary Soto from Antioch and George Pipala from Fox Lake with 20 points. They won a $20 gift certificate to Carousel Cleaners, a $10 gift certificate to Main Street Cafe and a free pizza from Rosati's.

Ninth place was won by Steve Sutter and Dave Stone from Wauconda with 190 points. They each received a $10 gift certificate from Nicole's Hallmark and assorted fishing products from Du-Bro Products.

Tenth place was won by Bill Falkanger from Lake Zurich and Scott Falkanger from Barrington with 175 points. They each received a year subscription to Lakeland Newspapers and a case of oil from Wauconda Auto Parts.

Carmel faces key loop test

Carmel High's Colt baseball league team will find out just how far it has progressed when it hosts Round Lake July 8.

The Corsairs will be taking on contending Round Lake team at Carmel High's varsity diamond at 2:30 p.m.

"It is a pretty good rivalry game for us. We have a few kids from the Avon system," Carmel Coach Tony Farina said.

Carmel downed Antioch 11-2 and Lake Villa 18-1 in Mike's Memorial action last week for an 8-5 record. Jerry McMahon gained the win over Antioch and Josh Ward was the winner against Lake Villa.
